or the public, be discharged, the Governor may, in his discretion, order the patient to be discharged at the expiration of ten days from the date of the order.

Discharge of Patient.

Discharge of patient on recovery.

17.—(1.) The Medical Superintendent shall forthwith, upon the recovery of a patient, send notice thereof :

- (a.) in the case of a patient who is an "immigrant" within the meaning of the Immigration Ordinance, 1891, to the Immigration Agent General ;
- (b.) in the case of a patient who is a pauper, to the Poor Law Commissioners ;
- (c.) in all other cases to the husband or wife or nearest relative, or failing such, to any person known to be a friend of such patient, and where no such husband, wife, relative or friend is known, then to the Poor Law Commissioners.

(2.) The notice shall state that unless the patient is removed within seven days from the date of the notice, he will be discharged.

(3.) In case the patient is not removed within seven days from the date of the notice he shall be forthwith discharged.

Discharge of patient not recovered.

18. The Medical Superintendent may discharge any patient who, though not recovered, may, in his opinion, without risk or injury to himself or the public, be discharged, on the giving of an undertaking by a relative or friend of such patient that he, the said relative or friend, will take proper care of such patient, and that such patient shall not become chargeable to any charitable institution in the colony. Such undertaking shall be according to Form 3 in the Schédule to this Ordinance.

[COURT OF POLICY.]

ORDINANCE NO. 16 OF 1903.

An Ordinance to abolish the Lighthouse and Pilotage Authority of this Colony, and to make other provision for the discharge of the Duties heretofore vested in it.

A.D. 1903.

[28th March, 1903.]

BE it enacted by the Governor of British Guiana, with the advice and consent of the Court of Policy thereof, as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Pilotage Ordinance, 1903.

2. In this Ordinance, unless the context otherwise requires :—

Interpretation of terms.

“Harbour Master” means the Harbour Master of the Harbour of Georgetown.

“Pilot” means any person holding a warrant of appointment under the Lighthouse and Pilotage Ordinance, 1899, and any person duly appointed and acting as a Pilot under this Ordinance. (11 of 1899, s. 2.)

“Master,” as applied to a vessel, includes any person for the time being having the charge or command thereof :

“The Regulations” means regulations made under this Ordinance and for the time being in force: (11 of 1899, s. 2.)

No. 16.

THE LAWS OF BRITISH GUIANA :

[A.D. 1903.]

Abolition of Pilotage
Authority and transfer to Colony of its assets and liabilities.

3. From the date of the coming into operation of this Ordinance,—

(a.) The Lighthouse and Pilotage Authority established under the Lighthouse and Pilotage Ordinance, 1899, shall cease to exist.

(b.) All sums of money and investments, and all ships, boats, vessels, and other property moveable and immoveable at the commencement of this Ordinance, being, belonging to or under the control of the said Lighthouse and Pilotage Authority, including the Pilotage Fund constituted under the said Ordinance, are hereby transferred to and vested in the Colony of British Guiana.

(c.) All lawful liabilities of the Lighthouse and Pilotage Authority, established as aforesaid, shall become due and payable by the Colony of British Guiana, and shall be paid out of the revenues of the Colony.

Administration of the Department.

4.—(1.) The office of the Harbour Master of Georgetown or such other place as may be appointed by the Governor shall be the Pilot Office at Georgetown, and the office of the Harbour Master of the Harbour of New Amsterdam shall be the Pilot Office at New Amsterdam.

(2.) In dealing with all matters provided for in this Ordinance the Harbour Master of the Harbour of New Amsterdam shall act under the orders of the Harbour Master of Georgetown, and the Harbour Master of Georgetown may require the Harbour Master of New Amsterdam to do all such acts and things at New Amsterdam as the Harbour Master of Georgetown is required to do under this Ordinance.

General powers and duties of the Harbour Master.

5 The Harbour Master shall have the control and superintendence of the Pilot Establishment for this Colony and of all Light-vessels, Lighthouses, Buoys and Beacons. (11 of 1899, s. 9 (1))

Pay of persons employed in Pilot Establishment.

6. The salaries or wages of all persons employed in the Pilot Establishment shall be paid from the revenues of the Colony, at such rates as the Combined Court may from time to time determine.

Making of Regulations.

7.—(1.) The Harbour Master may make and when made, may revoke and alter, regulations for all or any of the following matters.

(a.) The approval and licensing of Pilot Boats ;

(b.) For determining the description of Pilot flags and directions for their use ;

(c.) Fixing the terms and conditions of granting warrants of appointment to Pilots and of the employment of Apprentices ;

(d.) Determining the qualifications to be required from persons applying for warrants of appointment as Pilots whether in respect of their age, skill, time of service, character, or otherwise ;

A.D. 1903.]

PILOTAGE.

[No. 16.]

- (e.) The government of Pilots and Apprentices, and the ensuring their good conduct and their constant attendance to and effectual performance of their duties, whether at sea or on shore;
- (f.) The maintenance and management of any Lighthouse, Light-vessel, or Light;
- (g.) The appointment of Pilots and Apprentices, and the regulation of Pilotage; and
- (h.) Fixing the terms and conditions of granting Pilot Licences to the masters of coasting vessels.
- (i.) The carrying out generally of the purposes of this Ordinance.

(2.) All such regulations and any revocation or alteration of the same, shall be subject to the approval of the Governor and Court of Policy. (11 of 1899, s. 16.)

Duties of the Harbour Master with respect to Pilotage dues.

8. The Harbour Master shall see that the Pilots,—

(1.) Give in at the Pilot Office correct statements of the description and draught of the vessels piloted in or out by them respectively, and such other facts as the Harbour Master may deem necessary in all cases where they have been unable to obtain a certificate or where they know or suspect a certificate received to be erroneous; and

(2.) Ascertain and deliver as soon as possible at the Pilot Office a statement of the description and draught of water and such other facts as the Harbour Master may require them to ascertain relating to any vessel arriving without having a Pilot on board. (11 of 1899, s. 32.)

Pilots and Apprentices.

9.—(1.) There shall be attached to the Pilot Establishment such number of Pilots and Apprentices and other Officers respectively as are provided in the Annual Estimates.

Appointment of Pilots and Apprentices.

(2.) Every Pilot shall be appointed by the Harbour Master, and shall, on being so appointed, receive a warrant of appointment, signed by the Harbour Master, authorising him to act as a Pilot. (11 of 1899, s. 35, amended.)

(3.) The Harbour Master may issue a licence, to be called a Pilot Licence, to the master of any coasting vessel, empowering him to act as Pilot on board his own vessel, and any such master so licensed, shall for the purpose of navigating his own vessel, but not further or otherwise, be deemed to be a Pilot under this Ordinance.

Rights and Obligations of Pilots.

Instruction of Apprentices.

10. It shall be the duty of the Harbour Master, the Master of the Light-Vessel (if any) and of every Pilot respectively to give all the instruction in their power to the Apprentices, and from time to time to make reports on their conduct and progress. (11 of 1899, s. 36.)

Attendance of Pilots at Pilot Office.

11. The Pilots while in port shall attend at the Pilot Office at Georgetown or New Amsterdam at such times as they may be required by the Harbour Master or, in case of his absence, by his Deputy. (11 of 1899, s. 37.)

Record of appointments.

12. A record of all warrants of appointment of Pilots shall be kept at the Pilot Office at Georgetown. (11 of 1899, s. 38.)

Delivery up of warrant of appointment.

13.—(1.) Every Pilot who leaves the service, either in consequence of resignation or dismissal, or who from any other cause ceases to be a Pilot, shall, immediately on so leaving or ceasing, deliver up his warrant of appointment to the Harbour Master.

(2.) On the death of any Pilot, the person into whose hands his warrant of appointment happens to fall shall without delay transmit the same to the Harbour Master.

(3.) Every person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars. (11 of 1899, s. 39.)

Production by Pilot of warrant of appointment when required.

14. Every Pilot, while acting in that capacity, shall be provided with his warrant of appointment, and shall produce the same to any person by whom he may be employed, or to whom he may tender his services as a Pilot, when required to do so. (11 of 1899, s. 40.)

Quitting service without permission.

15.—(1.) It shall not be lawful for any Pilot to quit the service of the Pilot Establishment unless he has—

(a.) Been dismissed by the Governor; or

(b.) Obtained the consent of the Governor to his quitting the service; or (c.) Given to the Harbour Master one month's notice in writing of his intention to quit the service.

(2.) Any Pilot being absent without leave for fourteen days or more shall be deemed to have quitted the Service.

(3.) A Pilot who quits the service shall forfeit his right to any money or wages then due to him, and all interest in any fund established under section 16 (c) of the Lighthouse and Pilotage Ordinance, 1899, and shall not be re-employed without the approval of the Governor. (11 of 1899, s. 41.)

Furnishing of Pilot with copy of Ordinance, etc.

16. Every Pilot shall, on receiving his warrant of appointment, be furnished with a copy of this Ordinance and with a copy of the Regulations; and he shall produce such copies to the master of any vessel or other person by whom he may be employed, when required to do so. (11 of 1899, s. 42.)

A.D. 1903.]

PILOTAGE.

[No. 16.]

17. Every Pilot shall use his utmost care and diligence to conduct any vessel under his charge without damage or injury to itself or to any other vessel; and he shall cause the sounding lead to be kept constantly going while any vessel which he is in charge of is under way. (11 of 1899, s. 43.)

Duty of Pilot to use care.

18. Every Pilot shall conduct himself with strict sobriety and with due respect towards the owners, consignees, masters, and officers of vessels. (11 of 1899, s. 44.)

Duty of Pilot to be sober, etc.

19.—(1.) Every Pilot, previous to quitting a vessel of which he has had charge, either on her arrival or departure, shall procure from the master of such vessel a certificate, (which the master is hereby required to give,) stating the draught of water of, and such other facts as the Harbour Master may require him to ascertain relating to such vessel, and whether or not she has been piloted to his satisfaction; and such certificate shall be lodged by the Pilot in the Pilot Office at Georgetown with as little delay as possible.

Procuring of certificate of draught of vessels.

(2.) If the Pilot is of opinion that any vessel draws more water than is stated in the certificate relating to her inwards, or for which she has cleared outwards, or if such certificate is refused to be given, he shall immediately report the same, either direct to the Harbour Master or at the Pilot Office, Georgetown, and it shall be the duty of the Harbour Master, or his Deputy, to ascertain the correct draught of the vessel, either by hooking or otherwise, and to report the result at the Pilot Office as soon as possible.

(3.) Every master of a vessel who refuses or neglects to give the certificate mentioned in this section, on being requested to do so, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars. (11 of 1899, s. 45.)

20.—(1.) Every Pilot shall pay strict attention to all the Harbour regulations of any harbour, and shall obey all orders and directions which may be given to him by the Harbour Master thereof with respect to placing, mooring, and moving vessels within such harbour.

Duty of Pilot to comply with Harbour regulations.

(2.) No Pilot shall move a vessel in any harbour unless permission has been first obtained from the Harbour Master thereof for that purpose: Provided that this sub-section shall not apply to the case of a vessel proceeding direct to sea. (11 of 1899, s. 46.)

21. Every Pilot, subject to the provisions of the Quarantine Ordinance, 1870, or of the regulations thereunder, shall, on his arrival from sea, whether he is in charge of a vessel or not, give notice thereof at the Pilot Office at Georgetown, or at New Amsterdam if he arrives at New Amsterdam, as soon as possible after his arrival. (11 of 1899, s. 47.)

Reporting of Pilot on arrival from sea.

22. If any Pilot puts a vessel to unnecessary (that is, other than unavoidable) expense, by damage, and if the same is proved to the satisfaction of the Harbour Master, he shall be liable to defray the same, not exceeding, however, the amount of one month's salary or wages. (11 of 1899, s. 48.)

Punishment of person employed in Pilot Establishment for neglect, etc.

23. If any person employed in the Pilot Establishment is guilty of any neglect, disobedience, or misconduct in the discharge of his duty, or of any contravention of any of the provisions of this Ordinance or of the Regulations, he shall be liable, in the discretion of the Harbour Master, to fine, suspension, reduction, or dismissal, or to more than one of such punishments: Provided that, subject to the express provisions of this Ordinance or of the Regulations, no such fine shall exceed the amount of one month's salary or wages of such person. (11 of 1899, s. 49.)

Offences by Pilots and Others.

Various offences by Pilot.

24.—(1.) If any Pilot commits any of the following offences,—

- (a.) Keeps himself or is interested in keeping by any agent, servant, or other person, any public-house or place of public entertainment, or himself sells, or is interested in selling in manner aforesaid any spirituous liquor, wine, tobacco, cigars, tea, opium, gange, charas, majoon, or bhang; or
- (b.) Commits any fraud or other offence against the revenues of Customs or Excise or the laws relating thereto; or
- (c.) Is in any way directly or indirectly concerned in any corrupt practices relating to vessels, their tackle, furniture, cargoes, crews, or passengers, or to persons in distress at sea or by shipwreck, or to their property; or
- (d.) Lends his warrant of appointment to any person; or
- (e.) Acts as Pilot whilst suspended; or
- (f.) Acts as Pilot whilst in a state of intoxication; or
- (g.) Refuses or wilfully delays, when not prevented by illness or other reasonable cause, to take charge of any vessel upon the signal for a Pilot being made by such vessel, or upon being required to do so by the Harbour Master or his Deputy, or by the Master of any Light-Vessel; or
- (h.) Unnecessarily cuts or slips, or causes to be cut or slipped, any cable belonging to any vessel; or
- (i.) Refuses, on the request of the master, to conduct any vessel of which he has the charge into any port or place into which he is qualified to conduct the same, except on reasonable ground of danger to the vessel; or
- (j.) Quits any vessel of which he has the charge before the service for which he was employed has been performed; or
- (k.) Refuses or neglects to give instruction to any apprentices entrusted to his charge by the Harbour Master, he shall in addition to any liability for damages at the suit of any person aggrieved which he may incur, be liable to fine, suspension, reduction, or dismissal, at the discretion of the Harbour Master.

[No. 16.]

(2.) Every person who procures, abets, or connives at the commission of any offence mentioned in this section shall likewise, in addition to any such liability for damages as aforesaid, be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars. (11 of 1899, s. 50.)

25. If any Pilot, when in charge of any vessel, by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by reason of drunkenness — Punishment of Pilot for breach of duty tending to loss of vessel, etc.

(1.) Does any act tending to the immediate loss, destruction, or serious damage of such vessel, or tending immediately to endanger the life or limb of any person on board such vessel; or

(2.) Refuses or omits to do any lawful act proper and requisite to be done by him for preserving such vessel from loss, destruction, or serious damage, or for preserving any person belonging to or on board such vessel from danger to life or limb, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanour. (11 of 1899, s. 51.)

26.—(1.) It shall be the duty of every Harbour Master, the Master of any Light-Vessel, and every Pilot respectively to report any neglect, disobedience, or misconduct in the discharge of his duty, or any contravention of the provisions of this Ordinance or of the Regulations, on the part of any person employed in the Pilot Establishment which may come to his knowledge, to the Harbour Master of Georgetown, who may, if he sees fit, interdict from duty the person offending until the matter in question can be finally disposed of. (11 of 1899, s. 53.) Reporting of misconduct.

(2.) An order of interdiction under this section must be in writing.

27. No Pilot shall receive or appropriate, or attempt to receive or appropriate, any Pilotage dues to his own use, or shall connive at any master of a vessel or other person using any deception to evade the provisions of this Ordinance or of the Regulations. (11 of 1899, s. 54.) Wrongful receipt of Pilotage dues, etc.

28. If any person employed in the Pilot Establishment is ordered by the Harbour Master to pay a fine, he shall not be permitted to act again in such employment until such fine has been paid or secured to the satisfaction of the Harbour Master; and such person may be dismissed from his employment if such fine remains unpaid for what is, in the opinion of the Harbour Master, an unreasonable time. (11 of 1899, s. 55.) Suspension until fine paid.

Penalty on person acting as Pilot without warrant.

29. Every person who acts, or attempts to act, as a Pilot without holding a warrant of appointment issued under the provisions hereinbefore contained and for the time being subsisting and valid, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred dollars: Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent any person from rendering assistance to a vessel in distress, or under circumstances making it necessary for the master to avail himself of the best assistance which can be found at the time, until duly relieved by a Pilot. (11 of 1899, s. 56.)

Obtaining charge of vessel by misrepresentation.

30. Every person who, by wilful misrepresentation of any circumstances upon which the safety of a vessel may depend, obtains or endeavours to obtain the charge of such vessel, and every other person who procures, abets, or connives at the commission of such offence, shall, in addition to any liability for damages at the suit of the party aggrieved which he may incur, be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars. (11 of 1899, s. 57.)

Penalty on ordinary boat displaying Pilot flag.

31. If any vessel or boat, not having a Pilot on board, displays a flag so nearly resembling a Pilot flag as to be likely to deceive, there shall be incurred for every such offence a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars; and such penalty shall be recoverable from the owner or from the master of such vessel or boat, unless, in the latter case, such owner or master proves that there was no intent to deceive. (11 of 1899, s. 58.)

Surveys, etc.

Making of surveys and soundings.

32. The Harbour Master or such person as he may direct, shall, with the Apprentices, once in every six months survey, sound, and examine the beacons, banks, and channels of the Rivers Demerara, Essequibo and Berbice, respectively, and on and off the Bars of the Rivers Demerara and Berbice. (11 of 1899, s. 59, (1) amended.)

Lighthouses.

Lighthouses.

33.—(1.) The Lighthouse in the City of Georgetown and every other Lighthouse at any time hereafter erected shall be under the charge and superintendence of the Harbour Master, unless otherwise directed by the Governor.

(2.) The Harbour Master shall appoint some fit and proper person to be the keeper of every Lighthouse. (11 of 1899, s. 60.)

Signals between Light-Vessel and Light House in Georgetown.

34. Answering and other signals shall be established, if practicable, between the Light-Vessel outside the Bar of the River Demerara and the Lighthouse in Georgetown; and such signals shall be posted up on board the Light-Vessel, at the Lighthouse, and at the Pilot Office in Georgetown. (11 of 1899, s. 61.)

Light-Vessels and Tenders.

Establishment of Light-Vessel.

35. There may be attached to the Pilot Establishment,—

(a.) A Light-Vessel or Floating Light (with a row boat) as now moored, or hereafter to be moored in such situation as the PILOTAGE.

[No. 16.]

Harbour Master may direct, outside the Bar of the River Demerara; and

- (b.) One or more Light-Vessels or Floating Lights (each with a row boat) as now moored, or hereafter to be moored in such situation or situations as the Harbour Master may direct, outside or inside the Bar of the River Berbice. (11 of 1899, s. 62. (1)) 36.—(1.) Every Light-Vessel shall be in charge of a Master, and shall be furnished with a crew. Manning and use as depôt of Light-Vessels.

(2.) Every Light-Vessel outside a Bar shall be used as a depôt for Pilots, that is, for supplying Pilots to inward-bound vessels and for relieving outward-bound vessels of their Pilots.

(3.) In all cases, when practicable, inward-bound vessels shall take their Pilots from the Light-Vessel outside the Bar, and outward bound vessels shall send their Pilots to such Light-Vessel. (11 of 1899, s. 63, amended.)

37. The Master of every Light-Vessel outside a Bar shall keep a Log Book, in which he shall note all transactions day by day as they occur, as well as the state of the wind and weather, and such other matters as the Harbour Master may direct, and he shall furnish the Harbour Master every month with a correct copy of the Log Book signed by him. (11 of 1899, s. 64.) Keeping of Log Book for Light-Vessels.

Pilotage.

38. Subject to the provisions of section 40, it shall be the duty of the master of every vessel arriving off the bar of the River Demerara, or of the River Berbice or of any river outside the bar of which a Light-vessel is moored to apply to the Light-Vessel outside the bar for a Pilot; and in the event of a vessel so applying, and not being supplied with a Pilot within a reasonable time, the Master of the Light-Vessel shall be subject to such punishment as the Harbour Master may think proper. (11 of 1899, s. 66.) Application by vessel arriving for Pilot.

39. Whenever any vessel in His Majesty's service requires a Pilot, a Pilot shall immediately repair on board such vessel. (11 of 1899, s. 67.) Pilotage of H. M.'s vessels.

40.—(1.) In stress of weather, which may render it impossible or dangerous to board any vessel, the Pilot Tender, if at hand, shall with a Pilot on board, sail ahead of such vessel into port. Extraordinary services rendered in stress of weather.

(2.) In case of information being received at any time, either on board any Light-Vessel or in Port, that there is a vessel on the coast in distress, it shall be the duty of the Master of the Light-Vessel or of the Harbour Master, as the case may be, immediately to send such vessel a Pilot, either by the Tender or otherwise, and to render her every assistance in his power.

(3.) All such services shall be deemed extraordinary. (11 of 1899, s. 68.)

Employment of unqualified Pilot, etc.

41. Every master of a vessel liable by law to the payment of Pilotage dues under this Ordinance who either himself pilots such vessel, or employs or continues to employ an unqualified person to pilot her, and every master of a vessel not so liable who, after a Pilot has offered to take charge of such vessel or has made a signal for that purpose, employs or continues to employ an unqualified person to pilot her, shall be liable to a penalty of double the amount of the Pilotage dues payable in respect of such vessel. (11 of 1899, s. 69)

Fraud with respect to draught of vessel.

42.—(1.) Every master of a vessel who reports or certifies, or is privy to the reporting or certifying, a false account of the draught of water of such vessel, or any other facts required by the Harbour Master to be certified as she was when coming in to any port or, if outward bound, as she will be when going over any Bar, shall, in addition to the full Pilotage fees payable in respect of such vessel, be liable to a penalty not exceeding double the amount of such fees.

(2.) Every person who fraudulently alters or defaces the marks indicating the draught of water on the stem or stern post of any vessel or any marks indicating the registered tonnage of any vessel shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding three hundred and fifty dollars. (11 of 1899, s. 70.)

Taking
Pilot to sea.

43. If any vessel carries away a Pilot beyond the limits within which vessels are piloted, she shall forfeit a sum not exceeding three hundred and fifty dollars, and such sum shall be recoverable from the owner or master of such vessel or from the consignee or agent thereof, and such proportion of the said fine as the Harbour Master may consider a fair and reasonable remuneration for expenses and loss of wages or earnings while so absent shall be paid to such Pilot on his return to the Colony. (11 of 1899, s. 71.)

Exemption of owner or master for damage in certain case.

44. No owner or master of any vessel shall be answerable to any person whatever for any loss or damage occasioned by the fault or incapacity of any Pilot acting in charge of such vessel in any case where Pilotage dues are payable by law in respect of such vessel. (11 of 1899, s. 72.)

fees, and exemptions.
Schedule :
Part I.

45.—(1.) The fees set forth and provided by the Annual Tax Ordinance shall be the Pilotage dues under this Ordinance.

(2.) All services rendered by the Pilot Establishment for the remuneration of which no specific provision is made by any list of fees for the time being in force shall be considered as extraordinary, and the remuneration for the same shall be fixed by the Harbour Master at such sums respectively as he may deem reasonable. (11 of 1899, s. 73, amended.)

Persons liable to pay Pilotage
dues.

46.—(1.) The following persons shall be liable to pay Pilotage dues payable in respect of any vessel, that is to say, the owner or master, or such consignees or agent thereof as have paid, or made themselves liable to pay, any other charge on account of such vessel in the port of her arrival or discharge, as to Pilotage inwards, and in the port from which she clears out, as to Pilotage outwards.

(2.) In default of payment, such Pilotage dues may be recovered in the same manner as penalties of the like amount may be recovered by law; but such recovery shall not take place until a previous demand for the payment of such dues has been made in writing. (11 of 1899, s. 74.)

47. The Harbour Master or his Deputy shall certify in writing the amount due by any vessel for Pilotage or other services of the Pilots for the guidance of the Receiver General's Department, and no vessel shall be admitted to clear outwards at the Custom House until the amount then certified to be due has been paid; Provided that if after such amount has been paid it is found that any error has been made in such certificate, the Harbour Master or his Deputy shall certify in writing the amount of such error, and whether it has been over or under paid, and if the amount so certified has been overpaid, the Receiver General shall refund the same, and if underpaid, the vessel shall not be admitted to clear outwards at the Customs until the amount so underpaid has been paid, and if the vessel has left the port, such amount may be added to the amount of the pilotage fees due in respect of such vessel when she next enters any port in the Colony. (11 of 1899, s. 75, amended.)

payment of dues.

48. Every consignee and agent (not being the owner or master) who is hereby made liable for the payment of Pilotage dues in respect of any vessel may, out of any money in his hands received on account of such vessel or belonging to the owner thereof, retain the amount of all dues so paid by him, together with any reasonable expenses which he may have incurred by reason of such payment or liability. Establishment and quorum of the Commission.

4.—(1.) Three Commissioners shall be appointed by the Central Board of Health for the purposes of this Ordinance.

(2.) The Central Board of Health shall appoint one of the Commissioners to be Chairman, and may at any time remove any Commissioner or cancel the appointment of the Chairman.

(3.) The Commissioners shall be subject to the direction and supervision of the Central Board of Health, in the same manner as if such Commissioners were the Authority of a Country Sanitary District.

(4.) The Commissioners shall be styled "The East Berbice Drainage Commissioners," and by that name may sue and be sued in all Courts of Justice.

(5.) Any two Commissioners shall be a quorum. (4 of 1890, s. 4, amended.)

Powers and Duties of the Commissioners.

Vesting of works.

5. All works constructed under this Ordinance shall be vested in the Commissioners. (4 of 1890, s. 8)

General powers of the Commissioners.

6. The Commissioners shall have the following powers :—

(1.) They may hold lands for the construction of all necessary works for the drainage of the District, and for such works connected therewith as may be approved or directed by the Governor-in-Council, and generally for the purposes of this Ordinance ;

- (2.) They may subject to the approval of the Central Board of Health employ such officers, agents, and servants and take from them such security as they may consider necessary ;
- (3.) They may enter into all such contracts as may be necessary or expedient for the proper carrying out of their duties ;
- (4.) Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, they may assess upon the estates, and recover from the proprietors thereof, all moneys required or expended by them for the purposes of this Ordinance. (4 of 1890, s. 9, amended.)

7. In respect of the making of assessments, the following provisions shall have effect, that is to say,— Principles of assessment.

- (1.) In making any assessment for the cost of the construction or maintenance of any work, the Commissioners may exempt from assessment, either wholly or partially, any estate which, in their opinion, does not derive benefit, or does not derive benefit equally with other estates, from the work ;
- (2.) In making any assessment for the cost of the construction or maintenance of any work, the Commissioners may assess at a higher rate than the ordinary rate any portion of the District or any estate which, in their opinion, derives greater benefit from the work than other portions of the District or other estates.
- (3.) Every assessment shall be made on each estate as a whole, and the amount due in respect of each estate shall be recovered against such estate as a whole, including the various other estate, if any, worked with such estate ; and
- (4.) No assessment shall be recoverable until it has been approved by the Central Board of Health, who shall have power to alter it as they may think fit, and such assessment, when approved by the said Board shall forthwith be published in the Gazette. (4 of 1890, s. 10, amended.)

8.—(1.) The Commissioners may recover all assessments and other sums due to them in respect of any estate by parate execution against the proprietor of such estate. Recovery of amounts due to the Commissioners.

(2.) A statement that any amount is due by the proprietor of any estate, purporting to be signed by a Commissioner, shall, without proof of the signature or of any other matter or thing, be deemed for all purposes prima facie proof that the amount stated is so due. (4 of 1890, s. 11.)

PART II.

9. The Commissioners shall construct and maintain all such works and do all such things as may be necessary to secure the efficient drainage of the District. (4 of 1890, s. 13.)

Duties of the Commissioners.

10. The Commissioners may, with the sanction of the Governor and on such terms and conditions as the Governor may prescribe, engage the services of the Public Works Department of the Colony for the construction or maintenance of any work. (4 of 1890, s. 14.)

Power to employ the Public Works Department.

11. The Commissioners, and their officers, agents, and servants, may from time to time enter on any estate for the purpose of constructing or maintaining thereon any work, or doing anything which may, in their opinion, be necessary for any of the purposes of this Ordinance. (4 of 1890, s. 15.)

Powers of entry of the Commissioners.

PART III.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

12.—(1.) The Commissioners shall keep a book in which shall be entered from time to time the names and areas of the estate liable to be assessed and the names of the proprietors thereof. Such book is hereinafter referred to as "the Register Book."

Keeping of Register Book of plantations, etc.

(2.) Any proprietor of any estate liable to be assessed may from time to time require the address of such proprietor to be registered by the Commissioners in the Register Book. Such address is hereinafter referred to as "the registered address."

(3.) Any notice required to be sent to, and any legal process required to be served on, any proprietor may be sent through the Post Office to, or served at, the registered address of such proprietor, and such service shall, for all the purposes of this Ordinance, be deemed valid service on the proprietor whose address is so registered. (4 of 1890, s. 16.)

13. The Commissioners shall keep proper books of accounts, and shall enter therein all receipts and expenditure, and shall publish in the Gazette not later than the 30th day of June in every year, an abstract of all receipts and expenditure for the year ending the 31st day of March previous, together with a correct statement of all outstanding liabilities and moneys due to or by the Commissioners on such last mentioned date.

Commissioners to keep and publish accounts.

Supplemental Provisions.

Minutes of proceedings at meetings of proprietors.

14. For the more effectual carrying out of the purposes of this Ordinance, the Governor-in-Council may make orders with respect to all or any of the following matters, that is to say,— Powers of control reserved to the Governor-in-Council.

- (1.) Order that the number of Commissioners be reduced or increased.
- (2.) Order that any estate shall be subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, and what the area of such estate shall be deemed to be for the purposes of this Ordinance;
- (3.) Order the Commissioners to execute or to refrain from executing any work, or to alter or remove any work previously executed;
- (4.) Order that the cost of any work shall be apportioned on any specified area determined by the Governor-in-Council; and
- (5.) Order that compensation shall be made by the Commissioners to any person prejudicially affected by any work. Such compensation shall be paid out of moneys raised or to be raised by an assessment made by the Commissioners on the estates or on such estates as the Governor-in-Council may direct. Where any question arises as to the proper amount of the compensation which should be paid, the Governor-in-Council may, if they think fit, order that the question at issue shall be determined in a summary manner, as on motion, by the Supreme Court of British Guiana in its civil jurisdiction, and thereupon such question shall be heard and determined accordingly by the said Supreme Court, and may be so heard and determined in vacation or during non-session of the said Supreme Court. (4 of 1890, s. 20.)

Effect and proof of order of the Governor-in-Council.

15.—(1.) Every order made by the Governor-in-Council under this Ordinance shall, when published in the Gazette, have the force of law.

(2.) The production of a copy of the Gazette containing any order purporting to be made by the Governor-in-Council under this Ordinance shall be conclusive proof of the due making and tenor of such order. (4 of 1890, s. 21.)

16.—(1.) Any person who considers that any work proposed to be executed by the Commissioners will affect him prejudicially, or who is aggrieved by any act or default of the Commissioners, may apply by petition to the Governor-in-Council, who may make such order therein as he may deem to be just.

Mode of appealing against action of the Commissioners.

(2.) Any order made by the Governor-in-Council under this Section shall be binding on all parties concerned, and shall be without appeal. (4 of 1890, s. 22.)

17.—(1.) Before commencing any work entailing a probable expenditure of more than five hundred dollars, the Commissioners shall cause proper estimates and specifications, and, when necessary, plans, of such work to be prepared.

Preparation of plans, &c., of works to be undertaken.

(2.) Before commencing any work entailing a probable expenditure of more than five thousand dollars, the Commissioners shall call a general meeting of the proprietors of the estates, and shall lay the plans, estimates, and specifications of such work before the meeting for the consideration and approval of the proprietors. (4 of 1890, s. 23.)

18. Every person acting under the provisions of this Ordinance shall be entitled to the benefit and protection of the Justices Protection Ordinance, 1850. (4 of 1890, s. 24.)

Protection of person acting under the Ordinance. No. 2 of 1850.

19.—(1.) Every person who assaults, molests, or obstructs any Commissioner, or any officer, agent, or servant of the Commissioners, in the performance of any duty lawfully devolving upon him as such Commissioner or as such officer, agent, or servant shall, on being convicted thereof, be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars. (4 of 1890, s. 25 (1).)

Penalty on person assaulting Commissioner, etc.

(2.) Every person who, without the permission in writing of the Commissioners,

(a.) places any "stop-off" or any obstruction of any kind, in any of the works or trenches vested in or under the control of the Commissioners;

(b.) places any piles, piers or other supports in any of the said works or trenches to carry any bridge, or for any other purpose; or

(c.) makes any cut or channel to lead water from any land into any of the said works or trenches, for the drainage of which said land the Commissioners are not responsible;

shall be liable on conviction thereof to a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars, and to a further penalty not exceeding five dollars a day for every day during which such "stop-off," obstruction, pile, pier, support, or channel is allowed to continue.

(3.) Any such penalty may be recovered under any Ordinances for the time being in force regulating procedure before Magistrates in the exercise of their summary jurisdiction and appeals from the decisions of Magistrates. (4 of 1890, s. 25 (2).)

See Ordinances No. 12 of 1893 and No. 13 of 1893.

Repeal of
Ord. No. 4 of 1890.

20.—(1.) The East Berbice Sea Defence Ordinance, 1890, is hereby repealed; Provided that such repeal shall not affect any right created, liability incurred or act done under the said Ordinance, and all sums due and owing by any person or property under the provisions of the said Ordinance, at the time of the passing of this Ordinance, may be recovered as if this Ordinance had not passed, and for that purpose any Commissioners appointed under this Ordinance shall be deemed to be Commissioners under the Ordinance hereby repealed.

(2.) Wherever in any Ordinance the East Berbice Sea Defence Ordinance 1890, is referred to, such Ordinance shall be read and construed as if this Ordinance were therein referred to.

THE following communication received from D. Morris, Esquire, C.M.G., M.A., D.Sc., Commissioner of Agriculture for the West Indies, on the subject of the Exhibition held at Toronto in September last, is published for general information.

By Command,

A. M. ASHMORE,
Government Secretary.

Dr. D. Morris to Government Secretary ; dated 12th February, 1903.

Imperial Department of Agriculture for the West Indies,
Barbados, 12th February, 1903.

SIR,—With reference to previous correspondence on the subject of the representation of the West Indies at the Industrial Exhibition held at Toronto in September last, I have the honour to forward, herewith, a printed extract, with an illustration, from the last number of the "Agricultural News."

2. The extract and illustration afford gratifying evidence of the success of the efforts made by these Colonies to bring their products under the notice of the people of Canada. The exhibits were very attractively arranged and received the award of a

Gold Medal. I suggest that this Medal may be retained by Messrs. Pickford & Black in return for the very considerable trouble and expense to which they were put in behalf of the West Indies.

3. As regards the representation of the West Indies at further Exhibitions in Canada, I am of opinion, after consulting the Minister of Agriculture and leading commercial firms in Canada, that it would be of great advantage to these Colonies if trade samples of West Indian products—as distinct from curios and fancy articles—were annually shown at all the Industrial Exhibitions held in the Dominion of Canada.

4. There are four principal Exhibitions held annually in that country, viz.: at Halifax, St. John's (New Brunswick), Ottawa and Toronto. I have ascertained that if two sets of exhibits were prepared one set could be sent to the Halifax and St. John's Exhibitions, and the second set to the Ottawa and Toronto Exhibition. The exhibits could afterwards be distributed to the Board of Trade centres and thus reach every part of Canada.

5. I have little doubt that Messrs. Pickford & Black will continue to carry the exhibits from the West Indies to their destination and to afford assistance in arranging them in an attractive manner.

6. The Honourable Sydney Fisher, the Minister of Agriculture, at an interview I had with him in October last, promised, if agreeable to these Colonies, to allow the West Indian exhibits to be shewn in the Government Building; and I was informed that the Officers of the Department would be good enough to assist in arranging and looking after them.

7. The chief expense in preparing exhibits for these exhibitions is in providing suitable glass bottles and labels. Such bottles, if the delivery be arranged for beforehand, could be obtained at a comparatively small cost from London or New York. Where any difficulty is experienced in regard to bottles, this Department would be glad to advise as to the source whence they could be obtained at the lowest price.

8. Under ordinary circumstances and where samples are obtained from the leading commercial houses, it is probable that the total cost of a duplicate set of exhibits, packed for shipment, would not exceed from £15 to £20. In the smaller Colonies it would be less.

9. This Department will, as before, prepare a Handbook and Circulars containing information respecting West Indian products for free distribution at the forthcoming Exhibitions. With the approval of the Secretary of State, it will also arrange to appoint a capable representative to attend the Exhibitions and afford reliable information in regard to West Indian products.

10. With the concurrence of His Excellency the Governor, I suggest that a copy of this letter be published in the "Official Gazette" and that it be communicated for the information of the Board of Agriculture and the Agricultural Society.

I have, &c.,

A GOLD MEDAL FOR THE WEST INDIES.

Extract from the "Agricultural News," Vol II, page 41 and 42, January 31, 1903.

Readers of the "Agricultural News" are already well acquainted with the considerable interest that was taken last year in all parts of the West Indies in order that the staple productions of these colonies might be prominently brought under the notice of their fellow-subjects in the Dominion of Canada. The object in view was to bring about closer business relations between these two groups of British Colonies that are geographically so well situated for a mutual interchange of commodities.

The larger colonies such as Jamaica, British Guiana and Trinidad were well represented, but, in addition, excellent exhibits were forwarded from the Windward and Leeward Islands and Barbados.

We publish to-day a photograph of the West Indian Court at the Toronto Exhibition. This will sufficiently indicate the successful manner in which the exhibits were arranged and displayed by Messrs. Pickford & Black. The members of this firm bore the entire cost of conveying the exhibits from the West Indies to Toronto and largely, also, that of fitting up the Court and arranging the exhibits.

The fact that the West Indian Court received the highest award viz., the Gold Medal of the Exhibition, is a convincing proof of the success which attended the joint efforts of these colonies, as also, of our friends in Canada.

Speaking at a recent meeting of the Agricultural Society at St. Lucia, Dr. Morris stated that, thanks to the personal efforts of Mr. Charles Pickford who took entire charge of, and arranged the West Indian exhibits, that section of the Toronto Exhibition was most attractive. All the colonies, large and small, were prominently brought forward. He was at Toronto himself and prominent Canadians assured him that the West Indian exhibits were greatly appreciated and excited a good deal of interest. Amongst the people of Canada there were still many who knew little or nothing of the West Indies. In the endeavour to remedy this, the Imperial Department of Agriculture arranged to distribute 20,000 copies of a special pamphlet and other literature giving information about these colonies. It is estimated that over 200,000 people visited the Exhibition. As one result it is anticipated that a larger number of Canadians will be induced to visit the West Indies during this winter on business as well as pleasure.

So far from slackening in interest in regard to the Toronto and other Exhibitions, Dr. Morris was strongly of opinion that during 1903 still greater efforts should be made to bring the West Indies into closer relations with Canada. Each country was the complement of the other and their productions were mutually interchangeable. There were four Exhibitions held every year in the Dominion of Canada. Two of these went on simultaneously. It would be desirable for the West Indies to prepare a duplicate set of sample products—viz., those that could be produced in commercial quantities and not mere curios—so that they could be exhibited at all four Shows. Afterwards they could be distributed to the Chambers of Commerce and find their way all over Canada. During 1903, with the permission of the Secretary of State, he proposed to appoint a capable representative to attend these Shows and give, at first hand, all information about West Indian products and distribute literature whereby they might become better known.

In support of the remarks made by Dr. Morris, Mr. H. B. Murray, the Manager of the Colonial Bank at St. Lucia, addressed the following letter to the Voice of St. Lucia, published December 25, 1902 :—

May I be allowed to add my testimony to that of Dr. Morris as to the immense amount of gratuitous labour so cheerfully performed by Mr. Charles Pickford (of the firm of Pickford and Black) on behalf of the West Indian exhibitors at the Toronto Exhibition. I was at the Exhibition for hours, nearly every day of the week that it was open, and Mr. Pickford not only secured an excellent site, near the entrance of the grounds and in the same annexe as the North West Province of Canada (whose exhibits were in striking contrast to ours, representing an absolutely different country and climate), but great care had been taken to arrange our various products in their most attractive form, and both Mr. Pickford and his assistants were deluged with questions by all sorts and conditions of men as to the use of this or that article, and were courtesy itself in their efforts to interest visitors in the West Indies and their products. Mr. Pickford also had an Address Book handy where any and every visitor who wished to get into touch with any of the colonies, wrote his name and address. Some beautiful photographs of the volcanic effects at St. Vincent and Martinique, which he exhibited, always had a crowd round them—and speaking of a crowd—the night before the Exhibition closed we remained to see the gorgeous fireworks that formed a part of the entertainment, and as a result, had to struggle through a crowd of eighty thousand people all making for the electric tram cars at the same moment—an experience we are not likely to forget.

Clerk of the Council.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 21ST DAY OF MARCH 1903.

SPROSTONS, LIMITED,

versus

J. S. DRAGTEN.

According to our Rules of Court, an order may be made charging the interest of a judgment debtor in any shares or scrip in any public company incorporated in the colony and standing in the name of the judgment debtor or of any person on his behalf, and the dividends, interest, or annual produce of such shares with payment of the amount due under the judgment, together with interest thereon.

A charging order was made ex parte and the judgment debtor now shows cause against it. On his behalf it is argued that 5 shares in Barima Gold Mining Company are not his, but are held in trust for another person, and that these shares at any rate ought not to be charged. The Solicitor for Sproston, Limited, while not admitting the non-liability of these shares to be charged, said he was prepared to advise his clients to refrain from dealing with them if satisfied they are not his. The judgment debtor in his affidavit swears that the said shares are not his. They are amongst the 40 standing in his name, and cannot be identified as far as I have instances.

With regard to the other shares on which a charging order is applied for, the learned counsel for the judgment debtor urged that the Court ought not to give a preference to any creditor; that the judgment debtor had filed a statement of his inability to pay his debts; and that at some future time the shares now sought to be charged may become of great value although now unmarketable. Our Rules of Court give power to a judge to make a charging order on shares standing in the name of a judgment debtor, and as the Solicitor for the judgment creditor pointed out there is ample provision made to secure the hearing of any person interested. Further than this a period of three calendar months from the date when the charging order is made absolute must elapse before any application for the sale of the debtor's interest can be made, and notice of such application shall be given to the Secretary or other officer of the company, or to such other person (if any) appearing to be interested as the Court or Judge may direct. (Order xxxvi. r. 86).

I do not think the argument that the Court ought not to give the preference a charging order will create to any one creditor can prevail. The judgment creditor has taken a step which the law allows, and because he has done so ought he to be debarred from the reward of his foresight?

It was also argued that in the event of the judgment debtor being made an insolvent, the official assignee would claim the shares as part of the assets of the insolvent, or in other words that the charging order be discharged. The case of in re O. Sheas settlement was cited. It is not necessary to go into what the official assignee may do if a Receiving Order is applied for, and the debtor is made insolvent.

No cause is, in my opinion, shown, and I make the order absolute with costs.

JOHN E HEWICK, J.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 23RD DAY OF MARCH, 1903.

WALKER, Appellant,

versus

LINDO, Respondent.

In this case a preliminary objection to the hearing of the appeal was on the 13th instant raised by the respondent's counsel, namely, that notice of the reasons of appeal had not been served on the respondent within the period fixed by law, and permission to file affidavits in support of that objection was given by the Court on condition that such affidavits were served on the appellant's counsel who was to be at liberty to file counter affidavits.

From the affidavits now before the Court it appears that the notice of reasons of appeal was enclosed in a registered packet addressed to the respondent, the postage prepaid, and the packet posted in time to allow of the notice being delivered to the respondent within the prescribed period in the ordinary course of post, had there been a house to house delivery of letters in the locality wherein the respondent resides; but that there is no such postal delivery therein, and that the respondent has never received the notice.

Section 47 of the Magistrates Decisions' (Appeals) Ordinance 1893, permits the service by registered letter of the reasons of appeal in any case, but contains no provision as to the time when service by post shall be deemed to have been effected. Section 9, however, of the Interpretation Ordinance 1891, provides as to all documents which any subsequent Ordinance, as in this case the Magistrates' Decisions (Appeals) Ordinance 1893, permits to be served by post, that service shall be deemed "unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post." It is, I think, clear under the circumstances proved to exist in this case that there was not any delivery in the ordinary course of post at Belle Vue, where the respondent resides within the meaning of the section (cf., Childs v. Cox, 20 Q. B. D. 290) and therefore the statutory presumption as to the time when service was effected cannot arise, and even if it could, that presumption which according to the section is not irrebuttable, has in my opinion, been in this case rebutted by the uncontradicted affidavit of the respondent that he never received the notice, and did not know of the prosecution of the appeal until he saw it mentioned in a newspaper. I may add this decision is in harmony with the decisions in Moses v. Ghurburran, (7 July, 1900,) and Brown v. Allen, (3 January, 1900).

In the appellant's affidavit of service it is stated that the notice of the reasons of appeal was also served on counsel who appeared for the appellant before the Magistrate. This was not, however, relied on by the appellant's counsel, and in a case like the present where no acceptance of service or evidence of such counsel's authority to accept service is given, is of no effect. (R. v. Oxfordshire, Justices of, 1893, 2, Q. B. 149).

The appeal is, therefore, in accordance with section 23 of the Magistrate's Decisions (Appeals) Ordinance 1893, dismissed, and so dismissed with costs, and the decision of the Magistrate is affirmed.

24th March, 1903.

IN pursuance of section 128 of the Georgetown Town Council Ordinance, 1898, the Report of the Mayor and Town Council of the City of Georgetown for the year 1902, and the Estimate of Ways and Means for the current year, which have been laid before the Governor, are hereby published for general information.

By Command,

A. M. ASHMORE,
Government Secretary.

To His Excellency Sir JAMES ALEXANDER SWETTENHAM, K.C.M.G., Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Colony of British Guiana, Vice-Admiral and Ordinary of the same, &c., &c., &c.

The Report of the Mayor and Town Council of the City of Georgetown, respectfully sheweth—

That your Reporters in accordance with the provisions of the Georgetown Town Council Ordinance, 1898, have now the honour to transmit herewith for the information of Your Excellency the accounts of the Corporation for the year 1902, as follows :—

Statements A and B—Showing the funds of the Mayor and Town Council and the administration thereof from 1st January to 31st December, 1902; the former Statement comprising the sums voted and the actual sums expended; and the latter showing the Estimated Ways and Means for the year 1902; and the actual yield of the items for the year.

Statement C—Is a recapitulation of Statements A and B.

Statement D—Cash account of the Corporation for the year 1902.

Statement E—Showing the revenue and expenditure of Queenstown Ward for 1902.

Statement F—Showing the amount spent from the loan of $240,000 under Ordinance No. 3 of 1888, incorporated in Ordinance No. 25 of 1898.

Statement G—Showing the amount spent on account of Loan Bonds issued under Ordinance No. 1 of 1896, incorporated in Ordinance No. 25 of 1898.

Statement H—Is the Balance Sheet of the Corporation for the year ending 31st December, 1902.

The Estimate for the current year now submitted to Your Excellency amounts to $257,631 02. In it provision has been made for the requirements of the City; and for the repayment of instalments of loans and interest on unpaid capital, falling due during 1903.

A Statement of the Ways and Means to meet such Estimate of $257,631 02 is herewith also submitted to Your Excellency.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

L.S.

J. WOOD DAVIS, Mayor.

P. P. FAIRBAIRN, Town Clerk.

Town Hall,

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 23RD DAY OF MARCH, 1903.

SIMON

versus

CAMACHO.

The plaintiff alleges that he was the owner of a placer claim in the Powis Creek; that by an agreement entered into between him and defendant, he agreed to transfer his claim to the defendant who agreed to work the claim and pay to the plaintiff one half of the profits; that the claim was transferred to the defendant who worked it at a loss; that the defendant in breach of the provisions of the agreement between him and the plaintiff, whereby he was bound to retransfer the claim to the plaintiff if it was being worked at a loss, refused to retransfer, but sold the placer to a third person for $1,000, which sum has been paid to him. The plaintiff by this action claims the said sum of $1,000, received by the defendant for the placer. The defendant admits the agreement between himself and the plaintiff, and also that he sold the placer, but alleges it was with the sanction of the plaintiff, he further contends that the agreement created a partnership between him and the plaintiff, and alleges that the partnership accounts which were accepted by the plaintiff, show a loss of $597.07 which is a charge on the placer, and that the plaintiff consented that the aforesaid loss of $597.07, and the amount of $310.50 due by the plaintiff to the defendant on private account should be deducted from the $1,000 received from the defendant as purchase money of the placer. The defendant offers to pay to the plaintiff $92.43, the balance of the purchase money after deducting the aforesaid two sums.

The agreement between the parties which is in writing, provides that the plaintiff should transfer the claim to the defendant, that the proceeds of the sale of gold should be applied to repay the defendant all expenses incurred by him in working the claim, and the profits be divided equally between the parties; the defendant is to appoint the manager who is to be under the defendant's sole direction and control; the plaintiff is allowed to inspect the books and to visit the claim, but shall in no way interfere "with the working of the same". The agreement is to remain in force until terminated by mutual consent or if it is found that the business is being carried on at a loss, the defendant is to retransfer the claim to the plaintiff, subject to any rights which may have accrued under the provisions of this agreement. I think this agreement creates a partnership in the profits and nothing more. There is no partnership under the Mining Ordinance, 1896. The claim was never owned by the two parties, it is distinctly provided that it should be transferred to the defendant. The claim was never partnership property and could not be a partnership asset. The defendant can have no lien therefore on the claim for the moneys advanced by him. I consider that if the plaintiff is under the agreement entitled to one half of the profits of the working he is liable for one half of the losses if any.

I am of opinion, therefore, that the defendant can set off one half of the amount at debit of the so called partnership account.

It was sought to prove that there was a subsequent agreement made between the parties at the time when the purchase money of the placer was paid. No such agreement is shown in terms by the defendant, and objection was taken to any evidence being given of such an alleged agreement. I have great doubt whether the evidence is admissible, but I allowed the evidence to be given as the defendant has pleaded that the plaintiff consented to the loss on the working as well as his private account being deducted from the proceeds of the sale. It appears that at the time the purchase money was paid, the parties all met at the chambers of Mr. Dargan who was acting as the defendant's legal adviser. I have no doubt that it was then stated by Mr. Dargan how it was intended that the money should be applied. I am not, however, satisfied that the plaintiff, who is an illiterate old man, entered into any binding agreement as to the application of the purchase money. The defendant himself says that before he got the plaintiff's authority to sell, he told the plaintiff he would re-transfer the claim on being paid half the losses and the plaintiff's private account. It is remarkable that the plaintiff should very shortly after consent and agree to pay those losses in full without any protest. It is urged by counsel for the defendant that the consideration for this new agreement was the defendant giving up his rights to the placer and also agreeing to pay to the plaintiff the sum of $100. The plaintiff does not appear to me to have had any rights in the placer, and he did not pay nor credit the plaintiff with the $100. The consideration was not the withdrawing the action it is stated the defendant was going to bring against the plaintiff, as the defendant says after he was allowed to sell he did not bother with the suit. From the statements of counsel for the defendant it appears that the so-called agreement fell through, because Mr. Hargreaves refused to accept 50 per cent of the amount the labourers on the placer had sued the plaintiff for. It is very remarkable that this alleged agreement is not pleaded as a binding agreement between the parties, nor any offer made as to paying the $100. I am of opinion, that there was no agreement entered into that is binding on plaintiff.

As to the plaintiff's private account, I consider that the amounts paid Messrs. Dargan and Cameron are rightly charged as they were paid by the defendant. The interest on the notes cannot be allowed, the notes were payable on demand and no demand is proved, and further the note for $50 is for interest on the note for $100 which was the sum lent. Deducting this interest the plaintiff is indebted to the defendant in the sum of $294 on the private account.

This sum and the $298 53 (half of the losses on the working of the placer) amounting together to $592 53 the defendant can deduct from the purchase money. There will be judgment for the plaintiff for $407 47, and costs.

L.S.

J. A. SWETTENHAM,
Governor.

&c., &c., &c.

To

THE HONOURABLE ALEXANDER MURRAY ASHMORE, Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Government Secretary of British Guiana, GREETING!

WHEREAS by Letters Patent passed under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom bearing date the Twenty-ninth day of November, 1902, His Most Gracious Majesty the King was pleased to direct and ordain that in the event of the Governor of British Guiana having occasion to be temporarily absent for a short period from the seat of Government, he may, by an Instrument under the Public Seal of the Colony, constitute and appoint the Lieutenant-Governor, or if there be no such Officer, or if such Officer be absent or unable to act, then any other person to be his Deputy within any part or parts of the Colony, during such temporary absence and in that capacity to exercise, perform, and execute for and on behalf of the Governor during such absence, but no longer, all such powers and authorities vested in the Governor, as shall by such Instrument be specified and limited, but no others;

And Whereas I, the said Sir JAMES ALEXANDER SWETTENHAM, am about to be temporarily absent for a short period from the seat of Government;

And Whereas there is no Lieutenant-Governor in the Colony;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, the said Sir JAMES ALEXANDER SWETTENHAM, in pursuance of the powers conferred upon me in that behalf by the said Letters Patent, do constitute and appoint you the said ALEXANDER MURRAY ASHMORE to be my Deputy within the Colony during my temporary absence as aforesaid, and in that capacity to exercise, perform, and execute for me and on my behalf during such absence as aforesaid, but no longer, all the powers and authorities vested in me as Governor of British Guiana, subject, however, to such Instructions as I shall from time to time address to you for your guidance.

Given at Georgetown under the Public Seal of the Colony, this Second day of April, 1903.

By His Excellency's Command,

A. M. ASHMORE,

Government Secretary.

Executive Council Notice.

GUIANA PUBLIC BUILDINGS,

Georgetown, Demerara,

2nd April, 1903.

THE following Rules, made by the Governor-in-Council under Section 7 of the Magistrates' Courts (Moneys) Ordinance, 1903, on the 28th March, 1903, are published for general information.

By Command,

J. HAMPDEN KING,

Clerk of the Council.

MAGISTRATES' COURTS (MONEYS) RULES, 1903.

I.—ACCOUNTS.

1. These Rules may be cited as the Magistrates' Courts (Moneys) Rules, 1903.

2.—(1.) The Magistrate shall see that the gross amounts of revenue collected are paid into the Treasury. No abatements or counterclaims will be admitted.

(2.) Between the time of receipt and time of payment into the Treasury, no part of such moneys shall be made use of in any way whatsoever, without special authority.

3. Magistrates and Clerks will be responsible for the due payment of all cheques received by them as revenue.

4.—(1.) All moneys received as Revenue shall be paid into the Treasury daily if possible, but at least once a week, viz., on or about the 1st, 8th, 15th and 26th of each month, or at such other time as the Governor may direct.

(2.) Each of the said payments shall comprise the entire balance in the Clerk's hands at the date of such payment. The payment on or about the 1st of each month shall consist of the balance in the hand of the collector on the evening of the last day of the previous month.

5. Payments to the Treasury or to the Sub-Treasuries shall be made on the approved form supported in each case by such subsidiary detailed schedules, books, abstracts or declarations as the Receiver General may direct. The Receiver General or sub-Accountant will sign a receipt for the amount taken over, after satisfying himself that the same has been duly vouched as prescribed.

6.—(1.) The Clerk of Court or if there is no Clerk the Magistrate shall keep a Cash Book in which he shall enter at once every receipt of money for whatever purpose, whether it forms a part of the Colonial Revenue or not, in such full and sufficient detail that it may be examined and checked without reference to sub-vouchers.

(2.) On or before the fifth day of each month, the clerk or Magistrate shall forward to the Receiver General a certified transcript of such cash book for the past month together with such vouchers in detail as are required. In the event of no moneys having been received during the month, a "nil" return, duly declared to, shall be sent to the Receiver General.

(3.) This rule is not to interfere with the keeping of such books, or the preparation of such returns or statements as are required to be kept or prepared under any particular law or ordinance, or with any detailed return of fines, licenses, forfeitures, &c., required by law.

7.—(1.) The Cash Book shall be in the form prescribed by the Receiver General.

(2.) After examining the Cash Book as required by section 26 Ordinance 10 of 1893, the Magistrate shall sign and date the certificate of such examination.

(3.) The Magistrate shall see that there is entered in the cash book every cash transaction including commissions on sales payable under Table A of the Schedule to the Magistrate's Courts (Moneys) Ordinance, 1903.

8.—(1.) All sums paid into the Treasury by way of deposits shall be supported at the termination of each month by a voucher signed by the Magistrate, setting forth the details of each deposit made during the month.

(2.) The receipt of all fees by the Clerk of Court which are specially appropriated to the remuneration of such clerk shall be accounted for under the heading of "Deposits," and be paid into the Treasury as such.

9. The salaries of the Magistrate and Clerk of Court shall not be paid, until all moneys received as revenue during the month are paid into the Treasury and properly accounted for.

10.—(1.) All payments made to the Treasury shall be accompanied by a receivable order for the amount of such moneys paid in.

(2.) Such order shall be certified by the Magistrate and delivered to the Treasury.

(3.) The Magistrate shall as soon as practicable examine the counterfoils of the Receivable Order Book and satisfy himself that full discharge has been given by the Treasury and shall then initial and date the same.

11.—(1.) That portion of the business of the Clerk which is transacted with the public is to be carried on at the Court Houses provided for the purpose, or in the Clerk's office, if such there be, attached to them, and every clerk shall attend, except on Sundays, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., (2 p.m. on Saturdays) for the purpose of transacting business.

(2.) All records of the Courts are to be kept at the Courts and are not to be removed except with the leave, first obtained, of the Magistrate.

(3.) All revenue shall be received at the Courts or at the Clerk's Office.

12.—Entries of all fines imposed, licences received, and recognizances estreated, and other payments to the Crown ordered by the Magistrate, shall be entered by the Magistrate and the Clerk, in separate books, which shall be open to inspection by the Receiver General, or by any Officer authorized by him in writing, or by an Audit Officer.

(2.) In every case where the fine has not been paid at the time imposed, the Magistrate shall note the reason of such non-payment against the entry of the fine in his Fine Book, and the limit of time within which such fine is to be paid.

(3.) The Magistrate, before signing the Cash book and Fine sheet kept by the Clerk, shall satisfy himself, by comparison of his Fine Book with them, that all fines, &c., are duly entered.

13. No Magistrate shall quit the colony on leave of absence without first obtaining a certificate from the Receiver General to the effect that his accounts are satisfactorily settled and that all public moneys for which he is accountable are properly accounted for. In the case of a Clerk the certificate shall be obtained from the Magistrate. The Magistrate shall also give the like certificate to the Receiver General, or the Auditor General as the case may require, on the transfer, death, or retirement of a clerk.

14. The Clerk, or if there is no Clerk, the Magistrate shall make a declaration that he has duly accounted for all revenue collected by him.

15. The mark of every person unable to write should invariably be witnessed by two persons able to write.

16. The provisions with regard to the payment of Rural Constables referred to in Schedule 2 of Ordinance 11 of 1891, shall be strictly adhered to.

17. The Clerk shall keep a machine-numbered receipt book, called a General Receipt Book, in which he shall take receipts for all moneys paid out by him other than moneys recovered under Distress Warrants or Writs of Execution, with dates of such payments.

18. When any refund of an amount may properly be made, such shall only be made with the approval and sanction of the Magistrate, and a proper receipt for such refund shall be taken from the person entitled thereto, or from some one duly authorised by him in writing, to represent him.

19. Counterfoils of Counterfoil Books used by the Clerk shall be retained to support entries in the cash accounts, until the Auditor certifies that they are no longer required, when they must be at once returned to the Treasury.

20. Magistrates are responsible for all accounts being obtained in sufficient time to admit of their being charged against the year to which they relate.

21. Magistrates and their Clerks, shall take the necessary steps to provide themselves with copies of the Financial Regulations of the 12th December, 1901.

II.— PAYMENT OF FEES AND COSTS.

22. The payment of all Fees in Magistrates' Courts shall be denoted by Postage and Inland Revenue Stamps.

23. No stamps shall be used in respect of any document or instrument which is by law ordered to be free of duty. In all such cases the exemption from duty and the reason for such exemption shall be noted by the Magistrate on such document.

24. Stamps shall be provided by Suitors. In cases, however, where stamps cannot be purchased by Suitors from a Vendor of Stamps near a Court, the Magistrate or the Clerk, may, with the approval of the Governor, be provided with an advance of money to procure Stamps for sale to Suitors.

25. The outside jacket or cover of the proceedings in every case, except Distress Warrants, and all process under the Landlord and Tenants Ordinance, (issued under a special procedure with special numbers) shall be in the Form A for Civil, and in Form B, for Criminal cases and shall bear a consecutive number.

26. All stamps denoting fees paid, shall be by the Clerk of the Court affixed to the inner part of the jacket marked "stamps" except in the case of Distress Warrants, Claims of Possession and all process under the Small Tenements and Rent Recovery Ordinance, 1903, and of writs of execution, of warrants of arrest and affidavits of proof of service of summons, in all of which cases the stamps shall be affixed by the Clerk to the face of the documents.

27.—(1.) It shall be the duty of the Magistrate before issuing process to check the correctness of the stamps affixed and then to cancel them according to law.

(2.) The entries on the jacket shall be filled up at the time the stamps are affixed, and at the conclusion of each case the Clerk shall have the entries totalled in such a manner as to show at a glance the amount of fees paid in the case.

III.—SALE OF STAMPS BY MAGISTRATES' CLERKS, WHERE SUCH SALE MAY BE APPROVED BY THE GOVERNOR.

28. Every Clerk of Court to whom any advance of money may be made with the approval of the Governor, shall sell stamps, for cash only, to suitors of the Court who are unprovided with stamps required for immediate use, and shall replenish his stock from the proceeds, as soon as practicable.

29. Such stock of stamps shall be kept in a locked receptacle apart from the moneys of the Court.

30. The Clerk will be liable, at all times, to be called upon by the Magistrate, or by a Government Auditor, or by the Receiver General, or any Officer from the Treasury, to produce his stock of stamps, and, where it has not been practicable for him to replenish his stock from proceeds of sales, then, also the cash proceeds of the sales, and to account for same.

IV.—RECEIPT AND RECOVERY OF MONEYS UNDER WRITS OF EXECUTION OR DISTRESS WARRANTS.

31. The Clerk shall be responsible for the custody of all Writ, issued in his Court and shall keep such writs filed in numerical orders and in a locked press.

32. If a writ is sent for execution to another District, the Clerk shall fill in the place to which such writ has been sent and shall account for its absence by a receipt from the Clerk of the District to which such writ has been forwarded for execution.

33—(1.) The Clerk shall issue to the Bailiff each writ when the execution thereof is about to take place and shall endorse thereon the date on which such writ is issued. The Bailiff shall forthwith take action on such writ and immediately thereafter shall return the writ to the Clerk whether the writ has been satisfied or not.

(2) The Bailiff shall endorse on the writ what action has been taken on the writ, i. e. in case of goods levied on, the particulars of the levy, or, if cash is received, state the fact, and if no effects, state this and the date of the return of the writ.

(3.) The Bailiff shall not take longer than one week in the process of execution.

34. On no account shall the Bailiff pay moneys to suitors ; this shall be done by the Clerk to whom the Bailiff will pay the net amount realised whether there is a surplus or not.

35. The Clerk shall keep a special machine-numbered Receipt Book, in which he shall take receipts for all moneys paid out by him to suitors in respect of Distress Warrants and Writs, with the dates of such payments.

36. The Clerk shall, under the Magistrate's supervision, keep a book to be called the Clerk's Distress Warrant Book, in which every writ, numbered consecutively, year by year, given to the Bailiff or dealt with by himself, shall be entered. The entries shall show—

- (a.) the dates of delivery of writ to and return from the Bailiff of his district or Clerk of another district, with such short remark as will show the result of the Bailiff's action on the writ ;
- (b.) The amount of the writ ;
- (c.) The date of judgment in respect of which the writ was issued ;
- (d.) Any moneys received on account of the writ and paid to the Execution Creditor together with the date of such payment ;
- (e.) The number of the writ and the names of the parties.

37. To facilitate audit, the Magistrate shall see that the number of the receipt from suitors is entered in the Distress Warrant Book for purpose of reference.

38. The Magistrate shall examine the Clerk's Distress Warrant Book weekly, see that unreturned writs are called for, satisfy himself of the correctness of the book, initial and date it.

39. When a Writ is " withdrawn " a certificate to that effect should be obtained from the plaintiff, if possible, and such certificate should be entered in the Writ book.

40. The Bailiff shall also keep a book to be called the Bailiffs' Writ Book, in which every Writ of Execution received by him from the Clerk shall be entered.

41. This book shall show—

- (a.) The number of the writ (as numbered by the Clerk) and the parties to the writ ;
- (b.) The amount of the writ ;
- (c.) The date of judgment ;

(d.) The dates of every receipt from or return to the Clerk of each writ;

(e.) What action has been taken on the writ—the same as is necessary for him to endorse on the writ. See Rule 3 (2.)

42. Where moneys are paid over to the Clerk by the Bailiff, on account of writs, the Writ Book shall be produced and the Clerk shall enter his acknowledgement of the receipt of the money in the Writ Book.

43. The Clerk shall check the Bailiff's Writ Book at least once a month, and may at any time call upon the Bailiff to produce any writ whether action has been taken on it or not.

44.—(1.) Every writ that is spent, shall be cancelled and destroyed, and those that are withdrawn, or have been fully executed, shall be cancelled in such a manner as to show at a glance that such writs are no longer operative.

(2.) The Magistrate shall also cancel the entries of such writs in the Clerk's Distress Warrant Book, by drawing his pen across the entries and initialling and dating the same.

45. With regard to writs received from other districts the following rules shall be carried out—

(a.) The Clerk shall, without delay, bring to the Magistrate's notice any writ received by him from another District.

(b.) The Magistrate shall initial the writ, and the Clerk, on his instruction, shall give it to the Bailiff for execution.

(c.) The Clerk, immediately on receipt of the writ from another district, shall acknowledge receipt of such writ.

(d.) The return of the writ shall be brought to the Magistrate's notice and he shall satisfy himself that the writ is properly returned to the district from whence it came, and that the proceeds of the execution are duly paid over and a receipt taken therefor.

(e.) The writ received and dealt with shall be entered in the Distress Warrant Book and Writ Book in accordance with the above rules, and the Clerk shall enter the date of the receipt and return of the writ in the Distress Warrant Book.

(f.) If the levy prove abortive, or if it is no longer desired to have the writ executed in the district to which it has been sent, the writ shall be returned to the district from which it came before it can be executed in a third district.

(g.) Writs shall not remain in the district other than that in which it was issued for a longer period than one month.

46.—(1.) Any deviation from these rules shall be forthwith reported to the Magistrate from whose district the writ was issued, and he shall make proper enquiries into the nature of the deviation.

(2.) Any improper dealing with writs shall be forthwith reported to the Governor.

47. The Magistrate shall forward every month to the Receiver General the monthly return of writs executed by the Bailiff.

V.—BOOKS AND FORMS OF ACCOUNT

48. All books and forms of account shall be in the form prescribed by the Receiver General.

49. The books and forms of account required to be kept shall be in the custody of the Clerk of Court who will be responsible for their safe keeping.

50. The books and forms mentioned in the Schedule to this Rule shall be the books and forms of account to be used in Magistrates' Courts, and the Magistrate shall see that they are properly used and written up for the purposes for which they are intended.

Made by the Governor-in-Council, under Section 7 of the Magistrates' Courts (Moneys) Ordinance, 1903, this 28th day of March, 1903.

By Command,

J. HAMPDEN KING,
Clerk of Council.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

INSOLVENCY JURISDICTION.

THIS 28TH DAY OF MARCH, 1903.

In Insolvency re M. LI QUI LUNG.

APPLICATION BY OFFICIAL RECEIVER TO APPROVE OF THE COMPOSITION OFFERED BY THE DEBTOR.

I have carefully considered this case. It is clear from all the authorities that a hard and fast line is drawn by the Insolvency Ordinance. By Section 16 (9) "where any facts are proved on proof of which the Court would be required either to refuse, suspend, or attach conditions to the debtor's discharge were he adjudged Insolvent, the Court shall refuse to approve the proposal unless it provides reasonable security for payment of not less than thirty-five cents in the dollar on all the unsecured debts provable against the debtor's Estate." By (10) of the same Section: In all other cases the Court may either approve or refuse to approve the proposal. Here the debtor "continued to trade after knowing himself to be insolvent," one of the facts referred to. In the case of in re Bottomley ex parte Bottomley X Morrel 262, Vaughan Williams, J. drew attention to the hard and fast line. All the arguments as to the particular class of offence and the particular circumstances under which it was committed dealt with the position when the necessary security was provided. The same point is dealt with in in re E. A. B. L. R. 1 K. B. D. 457.

The Court has no option unless the security for the payment of thirty-five cents in the dollar is provided where any facts as above are proved. In re Burr ex parte Board of Trade L. R. Q. B. D., 1892 p. 493, Lord Esher, M. R., said: "The providing of the security is the condition upon which the Court is allowed to consider whether it will or will not approve the scheme. If the condition is not fulfilled the Court cannot approve the scheme. I may mention that it would be as well if the Official Receiver put in his report that all the necessary notices etc., have been given.

I refuse to approve the proposal.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 28TH DAY OF MARCH, 1903.

RAYMOND SEABRA, Plaintiff,

versus

JOSEPH ALFRED GOMES Defendant.

The plaintiff's claim is that on or about the 16th May, 1902, the defendant agreed to safely carry and transport within a reasonable time from Bartica to Copang Landing, in the Cuyuni, certain goods of the plaintiff together with certain labourers, and for such services the plaintiff was to pay the sum of twenty-five (£ 25). In pursuance of such agreement the defendant on or about the 21st May, 1902, received the goods and 7 labourers.

In the ordinary course of business the goods ought to have been delivered and the labourers landed within ten days thereafter.

The defendant by his servants and agents carried the goods and labourers as far as Quartz Stone landing and wrongfully refused to take them on to Copang landing. The goods have not been delivered or accounted for nor have the labourers been conveyed as agreed, the plaintiff has lost the goods and has been deprived of the services of the labourers, and has lost the advances made to them as well as other expenses incurred. The value of the goods, advances to the men and other expenses as detailed amount to $164 81 including $12 paid to defendant on account.

The plaintiff also claims $500 damages. In his statement of defence the defendant denies the agreement as alleged, the receipt of the goods and that they ought to have reached Copang in ten days and says that the goods and labourers were landed at Quartz Stone at the request of one L. Wilson who was in charge of the goods and labourers, was a partner and acted as plaintiff's agent, and also that the goods were not the property of the plaintiff as the right to their possession had been determined as they were addressed and consigned to L. Wilson who became entitled to them and has since demanded them of the defendant. The defendant further denies the loss of the goods and further pleads that if he agreed to carry the goods and labourers to Copang and only carried them to Quartz Stone it was through the wilful refusal and neglect of the plaintiff's servants in pulling the boat further than Quartz

Stone although it was especially agreed between the plaintiff and the defendant that his (the plaintiff's) servants would pull the boat to Copang Landing and that it was only on this condition that defendant undertook to convey the goods and men, and that the custom is for the men to pull. The defendant further denies the loss and damage and says if such loss and damage were sustained the refusal of the plaintiff's servants to pull the boat was the cause.

As is often the case some of the principal witnesses are wanting. Neither Wilson nor the captain of the boat were present to give their testimony and there is a direct conflict in the evidence placed before the Court.

There is no question that the defendant agreed to carry the goods and labourers to Copang for the lump sum of twenty-five dollars ($25), nor that the plaintiff was the person who financed the expedition and the defendant knew this for the receipt of the $12 paid is in the name of the plaintiff. The arrangement was made in the first instance between Wilson and the defendant through the intervention of Willis, who was formerly in defendant's employ. The plaintiff says that he personally saw the defendant afterwards on the 15th May and settled—this is denied by the defendant who most emphatically says he never spoke to the plaintiff, indeed, did not know he was in the matter till he got the lawyer's letter. This latter can hardly be correct for the receipt referred to is to the plaintiff. With regard to the terms of the arrangement there is also a conflict, the defendant says that the plaintiff's men were to pull the boat, the plaintiff says that was never arranged for. I have no doubt that was the arrangement, the men did pull as far as Central Landing and one of the plaintiff's witnesses (Samuel Haynes) says they are supposed to give the captain a hand. The goods were purchased by Seabra, advances made to the men and other expenses incurred. Wilson with the goods and five men proceeded to Bartica and were there shipped in one of defendant's boats and the journey to Copang was begun. Cyril Alves was left in Georgetown but he and a labourer were sent on later with a letter from the defendant to his agent Viera who was requested to forward them. There appears to have been no hitch as far as Quartz Stone, the plaintiff's men helped to pull the boat; when that place was reached according to the case for the plaintiff, the captain refused to go any further; he unloaded the boat and returned the next day to Central Landing. It seems to me very strange that the captain should so act unless he had very good cause, such as a want of pullers, the reason given by the captain according to plaintiff's witness Lam, and I am satisfied the plaintiff's men refused to pull as there was some dispute with Wilson about rations, and I am confirmed in this conclusion by the two labourers certificates produced which are partly filled up and signed by Wilson as a completion of service. The date is left out and the manner of such completion is added in a different coloured ink and handwriting, the words added are "by my discharging him" and on one of the certificates, that of William Cadogan, there are written these additional words on the top "if you can get to hall out you hair"—the ink used is the same as that of the other added words and the expression would seem to indicate a rebellious frame of mind. On these points of the case I am satisfied that the defendant was unable to carry out his contract by the act of the plaintiff's servants and that the goods were landed at the request of Wilson, an interest partner as he is called, who had full charge of them.

I now come to another point—the alleged offer to compromise.

The plaintiff who is borne out by Alves says the defendant offered him $80 to compromise, or, if he did not accept that, to send up free any fresh men he registered. The defendant denies this, indeed, he goes so far as to say he never spoke to Seabra at all, he, however, never cross-examined on this point, and I think the offer was made of $80 for a compromise. The question now arises what effect will this offer have. In Wallace and others v. Small and others M. & M. 446, Lord Tenterden, C.J., said that an offer such as this was prima facie evidence of liability and was admissible. In Nicholson and another v. Smith 3, Starkie, 128, the defendant after the action was brought went to the plaintiffs and said that he was sorry such a thing had happened and that he would give £200 to settle the thing. Abbott, Lord C.J., admitted the evidence and in both cases there was a verdict for the plaintiffs. Similar evidence was admitted in a case of Walls v. Lawson tried before Lord Tenterden, C.J., January 14, 1830.

The effect, therefore, of such an offer is that it is prima facie evidence of an admission of liability. It is not conclusive evidence. The offer of a less sum than the sum demanded will not in general support a count or an account stated since. As was said in Wayman v. Hilliard: The defendant has merely offered to pay money; and for aught that appears, it might only have been for the purpose of preventing a suit.

There remains only the alleged purchase by the defendant of the goods from Wilson. It would have been better if he had left the goods alone; he says he bought them from Wilson and paid him fifty dollars ($50) for them and this on the 2nd August, when the letter of demand claiming $250 damages was dated 7th June. Such purchase was not pleaded although a demand by Wilson was.

I am sorry for the plaintiff, he has suffered losses in his search for gold—he is not singular in this respect.

I give judgment for the defendant with costs.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

THIS 30TH DAY OF MARCH, 1903.

PERSAUD, Plaintiff,

versus

NAWOLE and JUSSODAH, Defendants.

The plaintiff having duly entered an opposition to the sale at execution of certain lands forming part of Huis 'Dieren levied on to satisfy a judgment obtained by the defendant Nawole, against the defendant Jussodah, by this action claims that the levy be declared fraudulent and illegal and be ordered to be withdrawn, and that the defendants be ordered to pay to the plaintiff the sum of $150, as damages sustained by him by reason of the levy.

The grounds on which the plaintiff bases his claim are, that on the 26th August last, he purchased from Jussodah, the land levied on, paid her the purchase money and was put into possession of the property, and that Nawole and Jussodah, acted fraudulently in collusion together for the purpose of depriving him of his rights therein by means of the levy.

No case of fraud and collusion has been established, but it is proved that Jussodah agreed to sell the land in dispute to the plaintiff, that the purchase money was paid and that she allowed the plaintiff to cultivate the land, but that he did not reside thereon, Jussodah remaining there for some time after the purchase. On these facts the sole question to be determined is whether the purchase, though not completed by the passing of a transport, was sufficient to debar a judgment creditor of the vendor from having such land taken in execution and sold to satisfy his debt: and according to the law of this colony that question must be answered in the negative (Voet ad Paud xli. 1. 42, c. f. xviii. 6. 6 and xix. 1. 12. Van Leeu. 1. 191).

The levy is, therefore, legal and there is no ground shown for holding the defendants or either of them liable for the damage sustained by the plaintiff by reason of the levy.

The opposition is, therefore, declared unfounded and of no effect and the action is dismissed with costs.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C. J.

PERSAUD, Plaintiff,

versus

JUSSODAH, Defendant.

The plaintiff in this case having duly entered an opposition to the passing of a transport by the defendant to one Nawole, of certain lands forming part of Huis 'Dieren, seeks by this action to restrain the passing of that transport, and also to enforce his rights as purchaser from the defendant of the same land.

The land in question is the same as that in dispute in the action "Persaud v. Nawole and Jussodah," and Jussodah having admitted in the witness box that she had agreed on the 25th of August last, to sell the land to the plaintiff and had on or before that date received all the purchase money and did not contest the plaintiff's right and there being no evidence of any right in Nawole, which would deprive the plaintiff of his remedies under his contract for the purchase of the land, the passing of the transport in favour of Nawole, must be restrained.

The question remains what other relief should be given in this action. The writ was issued on the 10th October last, but after the cause was entered on the hearing list, the hearing was by agreement between the parties deferred in order that the action might be heard at the same time with the action "Persaud v. Nawole and Jussodah" in which judgment has just been given. The two cases also have by counsel at the hearing been treated as—what they in substance and effect are—actions complementary to each other, and the court cannot properly in deciding the present question wholly exclude from consideration the other action. In view of the judgment in that action an order on the defendant to pass transport of the land in dispute if given in this action would be nugatory, but the defendant being unable to transport that land, the plaintiff is entitled under the contract for purchase alleged in the pleadings to obtain compensation (id quod interest) from the defendant (Van Leuen. Com. vol. ii p. 151 Grotius' Intro. iii 15. 6. Voet. ad Paud. xix. i. 14); and the Court in lieu of granting specific performance and ordering the defendant to pass transport will order her to pay damages, just as if the statement of claim had asked for "general or other relief" (Rules of Court 1900, Ord. xviii. R. 3 as to omission of the prayer for such relief c.f. Catton v. Wyld 32 Beav. 266, as to relief which may be given under such prayer.) The plaintiff is not entitled to claim as damages any profit he might have made by the use of the land if transported in due time (Dig. xix. 1. 21. 3. Voet ad Paud. xix. 1. 20, Philip v. Metropolitan and Suburban R. C. 10 Juta 52), nor is any ground for such claim laid in his statement of claim; but as the payment of $30 as purchase money on or before the 25th August, 1902, has been alleged and proved, the Court orders payment by the defendant of that sum with interest at 6 per cent. from that date, as damages.

It was admitted by the plaintiff's counsel that notice of the intention to oppose the passing of the transport to Nawole, was not given in accordance with Order ii. R. 9 of Part ii. of the Rules of Court 1900, and no costs therefore can be awarded to the plaintiff.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C. J.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 30TH DAY OF MARCH, 1903.

E. N. PHIPPS, Appellant,

versus

F. VIEIRA, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the decision of the acting Police Magistrate in the matter of an interpleader claim made by the respondent to a cottage levied on by virtue of warrant obtained by the appellant against one G. A. Watkins. The decision of the Magistrate was "Levy set aside. No damages", or in other words, he upheld the claim of the respondent to the cottage in question.

An objection was taken on behalf of the respondent, that the recognizance was signed before notice of appeal was given. From the minutes of the Magistrate it appears that notice of appeal was given in presence of the plaintiff directly after judgment was given. This was a good notice of appeal, and I am of opinion that the recognizance was duly entered into although it may have been entered into before the notice of appeal which was subsequently given in writing.

From the respondent's evidence, it appears he bought this cottage from one Harper, and paid $20 on account of the purchase money. He was to get possession in 3 days' time, but before he got possession it was levied on. Under these circumstances, I do not consider there was a completed sale. There was at most a contract of sale on which the respondent might have sued Harper but the property never passed. The respondent could not therefore claim the cottage as against an execution creditor. There seems to be some dispute as to whether Harper was authorized or had the power to sell the cottage in question, which originally belonged to Watkins. Holding as I do, that the respondent could not claim the cottage, the property in which had not passed to him, it is unnecessary for me to decide this point.

It is also unnecessary to consider the other reasons of appeal.

The decision of the Magistrate must be reversed, but taking into consideration all the circumstances of the case, I do not grant costs.

A. V. LUCIE SMITH, J.

THIS 1ST DAY OF APRIL, 1903.

D'ANDRADE, appellant,

versus

HILL, respondent.

This is an appeal from a decision of Mr. Arthur Choppin, Stipendiary Magistrate, North Western Judicial District, convicting the appellant of an offence under sec. 142 (1) of the Summary Conviction Offences Ordinance, 1893.

The case was originally dealt with by the magistrate as one of an indictable offence under sec. 360 (2) of the Indictable Offences Ordinance, 1893, but was referred back to the magistrate by the Attorney General to be dealt with summarily by him.

The reasons for appeal are (1) that the witnesses examined at the magisterial enquiry in respect of the indictable offence were not produced or recalled for further cross-examination by the appellant when the case was being summarily dealt with, and (2) that the decision is wholly unwarranted by the evidence.

Section 74 of the Indictable Offences Procedure Ordinance, 1893, required the proceedings, after the case was referred back to the magistrate, to be continued (the attendance of the accused being obtained) in the same manner as if the magistrate had himself formed an opinion in terms of sec. 33 of the Summary Conviction Offences (Procedure) Ordinance, 1893, while the preliminary inquiry as to the indictable offence was proceeding that the evidence appeared likely to establish the commission of a summary conviction offence of a like kind; and sec. 33 of the last mentioned Ordinance provides "that in such case all witnesses already examined shall be recalled for cross-examination or further cross-examination if the defendant so desires." The word "denies" is clearly a misprint for "desires," and the provision must be construed accordingly.

It appears from the proceedings that the magistrate, after calling on the appellant to plead to the charge of the summary conviction offence, read over to him the evidence previously taken, and then called on the appellant for his defence, and that the appellant expressed no wish that the witnesses or any of them should be recalled for cross-examination. It was argued that it was the magistrate's duty to inform the defendant that any witness would be recalled for cross-examination if he desired it, and that the magistrate having failed to do so and having at once called on the prisoner for his defence, prevented his applying for the recall of the witnesses. It was also suggested that the provision quoted meant that the witnesses must always be recalled, though they need not be cross-examined unless a defendant desired. I am unable to agree with any of these arguments. The passage quoted provides for the recall of witnesses for the purpose of cross-examination only, and not that they "shall be recalled and cross-examined or further cross-examined if the defendant so desires," and the words "if the defendant so desires" qualify the whole phrase "recalled for cross-examination or further cross-examination." The magistrate's calling on the appellant for his defence in no way precluded, nor does it appear that anything else was said or done to preclude, the defendant from applying for the recall of the witnesses or any of them, if he wished to cross-examine them further than he had already done; nor is there any evidence before this Court that the defendant desired to further cross-examine any of the witnesses, all of whom (save one whom his counsel had declined to cross-examine) had been already fully cross-examined. And although it is, I think, most desirable having regard to the education and knowledge generally possessed by defendants in cases before him, that a magistrate should, in cases under sec. 33, ask the defendant whether he desires any of the witnesses recalled for the purpose of cross-examination or further cross-examination, the law does not, I think, from the language of the section, oblige him to do so, and, therefore, his not having done so does not of itself render the proceedings illegal.

There was, in my opinion, ample evidence to sustain the conviction; and I see no reason on the facts of the case for interfering with the magistrate's exercise of his discretion as to the penalty to be imposed for the offence.

The appeal is dismissed with costs, the magistrate's decision being affirmed.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

(BEFORE A JUDGE SITTING APART.)

THIS 28TH DAY OF MARCH, 1903.

DEVONISH, et al,

versus

Executors of G. W. ROCKCLIFFE, Deceased.

The matter was referred to a single judge by an order of the Full Court dated 5th January, 1903, in the following terms. The Court . . . refers to a judge sitting apart the further investigation and hearing of this matter, such Judge after considering the accounts filed by the defendant, the objections thereto and answer to the objections, and the report thereon of the Accountant of Court, and after hearing the parties and such evidence as may be adduced by them, to decide the several questions arising on the accounts and also by whom the costs of the investigation and hearing before him should be paid, and report to the Court his decision.

An order to render accounts was made on the 24th June, 1902, and directed the defendant as executrix of G. W. Rockcliffe, deceased, to render an account of all the dealings and intromissions of the said G. W. Rockcliffe, deceased, with or in relation to the property, estate and effects of Frances Rockcliffe, deceased.

By the judgment of the Court also dated 24th June, 1902, certain facts were held to be established, amongst others that Frances Rockcliffe, at the time of her death, was the owner of lot 57 or 67, Stabroek, of the value of $800 and jewellery worth $50, that she was during her lifetime entitled to 10 (ten), shares in the British Guiana Building Society, Limited, which having matured were paid off by the Society, there having been paid to G. W. Rockcliffe, the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) in respect thereof, on 6th July, 1898, not two months before F. Rockcliffe's death and the sum of $138 85, in respect of bonus thereon, on 30th August, 1898, that is four days after her death, (5) that after the death of F. Rockcliffe, the plaintiffs' adiated her estate but never obtained actual possession of any of her property, all that property remaining in the actual possession and under the control of G. W. Rockcliffe, by whom all the business relating to the estate of the deceased was managed, (6) that the taxes on lot 57 or 67, Stabroek, not being paid that lot was sold at Execution Sale by G. W. Rockcliffe, he getting a friend to buy it in, and after obtaining Letters of Decease to transport it to the defendant, G. W. Rockcliffe, paying the purchase money at such sale and all the expenses of the transaction, (7) that the lot mentioned though purchased at Execution Sale for $30 or thereabouts was valued at $800 in the declaration as to the value of F. Rockcliffe's estate, which was prepared by G. W. Rockcliffe and on which estate duty was paid, and (8) that there was from the time of F. Rockcliffe's death, up to that of G. W. Rockcliffe an understanding between the parties that G. W. Rockcliffe would purchase the lot and after the sale took place he informed the plaintiffs that he would settle with them about it as soon as he had arranged about some outstanding accounts."

No order was made against defendant personally, the accounts ordered to be rendered were to include not only all rents derived from lot 57 or 67, Stabroek, before the sale of it, but also its real value; no furniture was to be included, but the $1,000 and bonus were to be included, "there is no written document or evidence showing any authorisation or approval by F. Rockcliffe of G. W. Rockcliffe disposing of that money, and in the absence of any evidence to the contrary he must be held to have been bound to account for it to the heirs. In the account the defendant will be entitled to take credit for all sums paid by G. W. Rockcliffe, which are properly chargeable against the estate of F. Rockcliffe." Some misapprehension appears to have resulted from the terms of the order of reference and evidence was produced, and was heard as to alleged circumstances of the purchase of the lot and shares referred to, but I am of opinion, after careful consideration, that all that was intended to be referred, were the accounts as rendered in accordance with the terms of the order of 24th June, 1902, the objections, answer to objections, and the report of the Accountant of Court and to hear the parties and what evidence may be adduced on the accounts, as accounts of the dealings and intromissions of G. W. Rockcliffe with the estate of F. Rockcliffe, deceased, and not to decide whether the property belonged to her or not, that fact having been found by the Full Court.

The accounts filed include the price paid for the lot with interest and the subscriptions to the shares in the Building Society. These items are not chargeable in view of the finding of the Full Court. But it is as well perhaps for me to point out that I have found an entry in one of the books produced in the handwriting of the deceased, to the following effect "this amount is loaned from F. R's $1,000 for 10 Mutual shares thus—

Received from Secretary	...	$1,000
Paid as above	...	$402 00

GENERAL JURISDICTION.

THIS 2ND DAY OF APRIL, 1903.

WOOLFORD, Plaintiff

versus

ALLT, Defendant.

In this action a point of law has been raised by the defendant's statement of defence of the nature of what was formerly known as a demurrer, namely, that the words alleged to have been spoken by the defendant are not actionable without averment and proof of special damage, and that the statement of claim does not aver special damage. The words dealt with by counsel in their argument aver the keeping by the plaintiff of "a common gambling den," and on behalf of the defendant it is urged that as the keeping of a common gambling house was not at the time when the words, it is alleged, were uttered, an indictable offence, but only a summary conviction offence, and punishable by fine or imprisonment, special damage must be alleged and proved. On the other hand counsel for the plaintiff contends that words imputing the commission of any criminal offence which may be tried summarily and punished by imprisonment will support an action for slander without averment and proof of special damage notwithstanding the law may allow of a fine being imposed for such offence in lieu of imprisonment.

It is unnecessary to decide whether words imputing an act or forbearance which may be regarded either as a civil injury or as a criminal offence (as E. G. words charging an assault) will per se be sufficient to sustain an action for slander; but we think that words imputing (as the words in this case do) conduct, which is by law regarded as being only a criminal offence and which renders the person guilty thereof not punishable only by a pecuniary penalty or fine, but liable to fine or imprisonment are (even though such offence be not indictable but summarily triable) per se a sufficient basis for such an action. This is, in our opinion, in accordance with the decision in Webb v. Beavan 11 Q.B.D. 609, with Walden v. Mitchell cited, Bac. Ab. Tit. Slander B. Pequeno v. Rodrigues, Full Court, 16th April, 1859, and with the rule laid down in recent text writers on the subject (c.f. McCabe v. Foot, 15, L. T. 115). The action cannot therefore, be dismissed on the ground that the words alleged to have been spoken were not actionable without proof of special damage.

The plaintiff has applied for a postponement of the hearing for three weeks on the ground that one of his witnesses, A. B. St. Hill, is absent from the colony but is expected soon to return. It appears from the statement of claim that St. Hill can give evidence as to some only of the alleged slanderous statements and that even as to them he is not the sole witness. It is, however, urged by counsel that he would be a more independent witness than the other witness mentioned. The application for postponement is opposed by the defendant, and we do not think sufficient ground is shown for its being granted, especially as the Court is not satisfied that the attendance of the witness would be secured by the postponement. The hearing of the case must, therefore, be continued, all costs caused by or solely relating to the application for the postponement, to be borne by the plaintiff.

THE following Half-yearly Report of the transactions of The Demerara Life Assurance Society, Limited, to the 31st December, 1902, which was laid before the Governor and Court of Policy on the 5th March, 1903, is hereby published as required by Law.

By Command,

A. M. ASHMORE,
Government Secretary.

THE DEMERARA MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, LIMITED,

BRITISH GUIANA,

Georgetown, 19th February, 1903.

HON. A. M. ASHMORE, C.M.G.,
Government Secretary.

Sir,—I have the honour, in accordance with section 53 of Ordinance No. 19 of 1891, to forward for the information of His Excellency the Governor and the Members of the Honourable the Court of Policy, a copy of the Twenty-Second Half Yearly Report of the transactions of the Society, made up to 31st December, 1902.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

E. CONYERS,
Secretary.

THE DEMERARA MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

THE TWENTY-SECOND HALF-YEARLY REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE GENERAL MEETING OF MEMBERS APPOINTED TO BE HELD IN THE OFFICE, HAND-IN-HAND BUILDINGS, ON TUESDAY, 17TH FEBRUARY, 1903.

In presenting their Twenty-Second Half-Yearly Report to 31st December, 1902, the Directors are again able to congratulate Members on the steady progress made by the Society during the Half-Year.

Two Claims representing three Policies were paid or admitted during the Half-Year, amounting with Bonus Additions to $3,155. The premiums paid totalled $1,103 80, the difference in favour of the Assured being $2,051 20. At the same time three Endowment Policies matured resulting in the sum of $3,465 being withdrawn. In addition to these two amounts and as the result of the Actuary's investigations as at 31st December, 1901, $1,086 were paid as intermediate Bonuses to the representatives of Policy-holders who died during the Second Quinquennium, and $240 50 on Policies that matured or became a Claim during the Half-Year ended 30th June, 1902.

The total Claims paid by the Society now amount to $50,521 50, including Endowments matured.

The Ordinary Working Expenses of which a Statement is laid over for the inspection of Members are much as usual.

The amount paid for Actuary's Fees for valuation, report, and various tables of rates completed during the second Quinquennium including expenses re declaration of Bonus are $1,047 42.

The sum of $500 was voted at the last Half-Yearly Meeting to Mr. F. A. Conyers and Staff of the Hand-in-Hand Company, in recognition of their very valuable services to the Society in the past.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 30TH DAY OF MARCH, 1903.

VAUGHAN, Plaintiff,

versus

WILSON, Respondent.

This is an action to restrain the passing by the original defendants to the co-defendant of a transport of the North half of lot number 87, in Kingston District, in the City of Georgetown.

The transport is advertised to be passed by William Wilson, as having in marriage in community of property Elizabeth Ann Wilson, late Johnson, born Griffith and by Mary Elizabeth Yearwood. The reasons of opposition are briefly: that the right title and interest of the said Elizabeth Ann Wilson, was sold at Execution Sale in September, 1894, and bought by the plaintiff who was put in possession of the property by the Marshal, and is still in possession.

The facts I find to be as follows:—The North half lot 87, Kingston, was left and bequeathed to Elizabeth Ann Wilson, by her late husband Alexander Johnson by his will, which was deposited in the Registrar's Office on the 22nd October, 1878. In the will there is a clause to the following effect "should my wife Elizabeth Ann Johnson (born Griffith), marry, I request that her husband shall have no control over the properties so willed to my wife, and after death all my properties become that of my brother Charles Richard Yearwood and his children Mary Elizabeth and Mary Thomasine Yearwood." It is stated and not denied that Mary Elizabeth Yearwood is the sole surviving reversionary heiress of Alexander Johnson. Elizabeth Ann Johnson was on the twentieth April, 1882, married to William Wilson in community of goods. In 1894, or thereabouts, William Wilson left the colony and went to Cayenne. Mrs Wilson was living on the property now sought to be transported, and appears to have been known as and called Mrs. Johnson. She borrowed money to pay the taxes on the property and was sued for the money so borrowed before the Magistrate as Mrs. Johnson. She appeared before the magistrate and judgment was given against her as Mrs. Johnson. The right, title and interest of Elizabeth Ann Johnson in and to the property was sold at Execution on the 16th September, 1894, and purchased by the plaintiff, who was put in possession by the Marshal and has been in possession ever since. William Wilson returned to the colony about 1896, but he and his wife have never lived together since, it being alleged by the wife that he was too poor to get a place for them to live in.

The original defendants aver that the alleged purchase of the right title and interest of Elizabeth Ann Wilson, late Johnson, born Griffith, in and to north half lot 87, Kingston, is null and void, no such right title and interest having in law or fact existed at the date of the alleged purchase, and even if it did exist the sale would be null and void on the ground of indefiniteness and want of certainty on which no title could in law be conveyed.

On these facts and averments the question arises whether the property belonging to Mrs. Wilson at the date of her marriage with William Wilson passed under the control of her husband and became part of the common property. I am of opinion looking to the terms of the will of Alexander Johnson that the property left by him to his widow did not pass into the community on her marriage with William Wilson. Alexander Johnson in bequeathing property to his widow, could legally attach the condition that it should not become common property in the event of her marrying again. See Voet lib xxiii. tit. 2, N. 77.

Alexander Johnson clearly, to my mind, intended that if his widow married again the property he left to her should not become part of the community. I think, therefore, that William Wilson has no control over the property and cannot transport in right of his wife. There is judgment against Mrs. Wilson in her former name of Johnson, and until that judgment is set aside I must hold it to be good.

By virtue of Execution issued under that judgment a sale took place of Mrs. Johnson or Mrs. Wilson's interest which was purchased by the plaintiff who was put in possession. The plaintiff being in possession under the circumstances hereinbefore set out has such an interest as to give him the right to oppose transport by a person having no interest in the property, and the indefiniteness of his title is immaterial. He was put in possession of what Mrs.

Wilson was possessed and what she possessed can be ascertained from the will of Alexander Johnson.

It is contended on behalf of Mary Elizabeth Yearwood, that the action as against her should be dismissed with costs, as even if it were competent for the plaintiff to oppose the transport by Wilson it was not competent to oppose the transport by her as sole surviving reversionary heiress. The transport was of the plenum dominium and the property was to be passed by her jointly with William Wilson; she alone could not pass it, and I think she was rightly made a party. But I consider that express notice should have been given that opposition was entered only as regards William Wilson passing the transport and not to Mary Elizabeth Yearwood passing her interest. I shall not allow costs as against her.

William Wilson not having any control over or interest in the property, his action for accounts must fail.

There will be judgement for the plaintiff with costs against William Wilson only.

A. V. LUCIE SMITH, J.

THIS 3RD DAY OF APRIL, 1903.

O'DONOGHUE,

versus

MOHABEER,

HAGGIN, Claimant.

This is an interpleader issue to try whether certain cattle levied on at the instance of Mohabeer are the property of the claimant Haggin, and also whether they were at the time of the levy in the possession of O'Donoghue and liable to be taken in execution.

From the evidence it appears that O'Donoghue used formerly to purchase cattle and sell them to Haggin. About October last year, O'Donoghue, found he had not the capital to carry on this business and he entered into an arrangement with Haggin that Haggin should advance him money to buy cattle for him (Haggin), that the cattle should be sent to Georgetown to Haggin, who should value them and credit the amount so valued to O'Donoghue. The cattle levied on were purchased by O'Donoghue under that agreement. Four of them were sent by rail consigned to O'Donoghue, the remaining seven were shipped by sloop consigned to Haggin. On their arrival they were levied on.

From the course of dealing, I do not think the property in the cattle passed to Haggin until there was delivery. O'Donoghue could not he said to be agent for Haggin for the purchase of these cattle, he did not purchase the cattle in Haggin's name. The arrangement appears to me, to have been that Haggin advanced the money practically by way of loan. There was no contract whatever between the persons from whom O'Donoghue purchased and Haggin. Haggin could not have been sued for the purchase money of the cattle. When O'Donoghue purchased these cattle in February, he apparently had none of the money given him by Haggin, on 28th January, to purchase cattle with. The question therefore is, was there a delivery to Haggin. The evidence clearly shows that O'Donoghue was authorised to send the cattle purchased by some carrier to Haggin, who was bound to accept them. The delivery to the sloop of the 7 head of cattle for Haggin was a delivery to Haggin, as the captain of the sloop was the agent of Haggin whom O'Donoghue had power to appoint. The moment the cattle were delivered to the carrier the whole property in them vested in Haggin. Dutton v. Solomonson, 3 B. and P. 582. As regards these 7 head, I think, therefore, the claimant has made out his claim. As regards the 4 head sent by the railway, they being consigned to O'Donoghue, I am of opinion, the property still remained in him and the claimants claim fails with respect to them.

To my mind there were no damages, so I allow none.

There will be judgment for the claimant for the 7 head sent by sloop with costs.

Government Notices.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara.

149. 8th April, 1903.

H. WALLBRIDGE, Esquire, Fifth Class Clerk, Immigration Department, has returned to the Colony from leave of absence, and resumed the duties of his office on the 6th instant.

150. 9th April, 1903.

THE Secretary of State for the Colonies has been pleased to signify his confirmation of the appointment of Q. B. de Freitas, Esquire, to be a Government Medical Officer.

151. 6th April, 1903.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following "Hints and information in regard to Cassava poisoning," received from the Commissioner of Agriculture for the West Indies, at Barbados:—

In view of the many cases of poisoning by cassava that have recently occurred in the West Indies the following information has been prepared in the hope that it may be possible to warn those likely to fall victims.

The hints as to the mode of dealing with persons suffering from cassava poisoning have been prepared by an experienced medical man.

Copies of this leaflet may be obtained for free distribution by the clergy, magistrates, teachers, police constables, and all who may be in a position to bring the information contained in it within reach of those concerned.

CASSAVA POISONING.

There are two kinds of cassava known in the West Indies. These are the 'bitter' and 'sweet' cassava. Both are largely grown and in some localities the roots afford an important article of food. The roots of the bitter cassava are usually grated and the milky juice is washed out, leaving a coarse flour from which cassava cakes are made. In Brazil and elsewhere cassava flour, known as farine, is eaten cooked or heated on plates and made into tapioca. The roots of sweet cassava are more commonly eaten as a vegetable after they have been boiled or roasted. There are so few differences to be observed between the plants yielding bitter and sweet cassava that children and inexperienced persons may easily take one for the other. Usually the peasants are fully aware of the distinction between them.

It is well known that the fresh roots of the bitter cassava are poisonous. If eaten raw or in a half-cooked conditions they contain prussic acid, and numerous deaths are recorded, every year, in the West Indies due to this cause.

The object of this leaflet is to bring prominently under the notice, especially of the poorer class not only the poisonous character of bitter cassava, but the fact that some kinds of the sweet or roasting cassava (especially from old plants) have been found to be injurious, if not fully or properly cooked.

The record of deaths from cassava poisoning in Barbados has been examined for nearly twenty years. In one year, viz: 1884, twelve inquests were held on persons who had died from cassava poisoning. In subsequent years the number of deaths have been slightly less, but, recently, several deaths have been returned due to cassava poisoning. In two cases the ages of the victims (men) were 57 and 45 years respectively. In a later case the victim was a boy of 9 years. Usually, those that die from cassava poisoning are ill-fed and neglected children. This is a class most difficult to reach unless a special effort is made with that view.

HOW TO PREVENT CASSAVA POISONING.

Although the sweet or roasting cassava is not so poisonous as the bitter cassava, it would be safer to let it be widely known that no kind of cassava should be eaten without being carefully and thoroughly cooked. In preparing cassava for table, it is important to bear in mind that what poison is present lies mostly near the outside of the root. It is desirable, first of all, to scrape off the skin and the outer portion of the root so as to remove the greater part of this poison. In the second place, the roots should be carefully cooked right through so as to drive off any remaining portion of the poison. Further, it would be advisable not to eat cold cassava or cassava that has been allowed to stand for some time after being cooked.

The rules to be followed in preparing cassava, of any kind, for table would be as follows:—

1. Scrape the roots and remove the outside parts.
2. Cook the cassava well and be sure it is heated throughout.
3. Eat cassava only after it has been freshly cooked.

WHAT TO DO FOR CASSAVA POISONING.

If a person after eating cassava feels or looks ill, medical aid should be obtained at once without any delay. That is to say, the doctor should be called, or the patient should be taken to the doctor, or to the nearest hospital, dispensary, or almshouse, where medical aid can be obtained as soon as possible. A few minutes may make all the difference, and no time should be lost. The doctor can inject some medicine under the skin of the arm which may save the patient's life. Therefore lose no time.

While waiting for the doctor to come, or for the cart or trap to take the patient to the doctor, there are several important things to be done which anyone can do. The following things should be done:—

1. Place the patient in the open air, or near the open door of the house.

2. Make the patient vomit by tickling the back of the throat with a finger, a feather, or a piece of grass, and, if he can swallow, make him drink water at intervals after each vomit so that the stomach is washed out thoroughly. If he does not vomit freely, get someone to mix a tablespoonful of 'ground' mustard in a tumbler ('half-pint glass') of warm water—(for a child, a teaspoonful of mustard in half a tumbler of water) and make him drink it off.

3. If the patient begins to get insensible or 'lifeless': Take the clothes from the upper part of the body and pour a large stream of water out of a jug or bucket from a height of three or four feet on to the back of the head, the spine and chest. This should never be left undone.

4. Afterwards dry the body with a rough towel or any coarse garment, and put on some dry clothes and blankets, shawls, or anything to keep him warm. Continue to rub the arms and legs briskly to keep up the circulation. If he gets cold, put some bottles filled with hot water round about him.

5. All this time hold 'smelling salts' to his nostrils every now and then.

6. As soon as the stomach is empty and nothing but water comes up when he vomits, give a strong dose of rum, whisky, or brandy diluted with twice as much water; and if it comes back at once, repeat the dose.

7. If anyone near by knows how to carry out what is called 'artificial respiration,' it should be done if the patient gets very bad and stops breathing.

Those in charge of persons suffering from cassava poisoning should not despair. Some of the worst cases have recovered after energetic treatment. Remember that the patient's life is at stake, and there is no time to consider whether 'wetting him will give him a cold' or any idea of that kind. What is recommended above should be done without fail.

By Command,

A. M. ASHMORE,
Government Secretary.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara.

153. 11th April, 1903
REFERRING to Government Notice of the 23rd May, 1902, No. 284, the Secretary of State for the Colonies has been pleased to grant to J. F. S. Fowler, Esquire, Government Medical Officer, an extension of leave of absence, with half salary, for 20 days from the 22nd May, next.

154. 11th April, 1903.
HIS Excellency the Governor has been pleased to appoint A. H. Hill, Esquire, Commissary of Taxation, to be a Justice of the Peace in and for this Colony.

Mr. Hill took the prescribed oaths on the 31st March, 1903.

155. 11th April, 1903
THE following Notice, issued by the Government of Barbados, dated the 27th March, 1903, declaring this colony to be a place infected with small-pox, is published for general information:—

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
27th March, 1903.

His Excellency the Governor has, on the recommendation of the Quarantine Authority, declared British Guiana to be a place infected with small-pox. The Governor in Executive Committee has also been pleased to approve of the following Regulations made by the Quarantine Authority:—

1. That steamers from British Guiana be admitted to pratique only on condition that the Captains undertake that none of the Crew (Captains and Officers excepted) will be permitted to land, and no clothing of the crew allowed to be landed: that no third class or deck passengers by such steamers who have been on shore at British Guiana within 14 days of the date of arrival here, be permitted to land: that first and second class passengers may land provided that they have been successfully vaccinated or re-vaccinated within seven years and not later than 14 days before the date of arrival here and provided also that they consent to be inspected daily for 14 days from the date of their departure from British Guiana.

2. That no passengers of any description by sailing vessels from British Guiana who have been on shore there within 14 days of the date of arrival here, be permitted to land, and that no such sailing vessels be allowed pratique until the Health Officer has satisfied himself that all on board are well and have been successfully vaccinated or re-vaccinated within seven years and not later than 14 days before the date of arrival here, and all the crews' clothes have been disinfected to his satisfaction, and until the Captains and crews of such sailing vessels have undertaken that they will present themselves to the Harbour Master at his office at the time appointed by him for inspection every day until 14 days from the date of departure from British Guiana have elapsed, or until they sail again from here, whichever may happen first.

3. That cargo imported by either steamer or sailing vessel from British Guiana be admitted without restriction other than such as may be implied by the foregoing.

4. That any clothing, the landing of which is prohibited under the above Regulations and which is landed or attempted to be landed shall be forfeited and destroyed.

By Command,

S. W. KNAGGS,
Colonial Secretary.

156. 14th April, 1903.
J. S. WALLBRIDGE, Esquire, Government Medical Officer, has returned to the colony, from leave of absence, and resumed the duties of his office on the 3rd instant.

157. 14th April, 1903.
HIS Excellency directs the publication, for general information, of the following Circular despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, with reference to the admission, duty free, of samples sent by Parcels Post to the Director of the Royal Gardens of Kew:—

CIRCULAR.

Downing Street,
25th February, 1903.

Sir,—I have the honour to acquaint you that the Commissioners of His Majesty's Customs have informed this Department that future importations into the United Kingdom by the Parcel Post of samples of dutiable articles from the Curators of Colonial Botanical Stations when addressed to the Director of the Royal Gardens at Kew and marked "for official purposes only," will be allowed to go forward without payment of duty, on the understanding that such samples will not be permitted to go into consumption without payment of the duty thereon.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient, humble Servant,
(For the Secretary of State), ONSLOW.

The Officer Administering the Government of British Guiana.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Petitioner's Invention for "Improvements in the manufacture of sugar" is protected under Ordinance No. 1 of 1861 for the term of twelve months from the 26th day of March, 1903.

151. 6th April, 1903.
HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following "Hints and information in regard to Cassava poisoning," received from the Commissioner of Agriculture for the West Indies, at Barbados:—

In view of the many cases of poisoning by cassava that have recently occurred in the West Indies the following information has been prepared in the hope that it may be possible to warn those likely to fall victims.

The hints as to the mode of dealing with persons suffering from cassava poisoning have been prepared by an experienced medical man.

Copies of this leaflet may be obtained for free distribution by the clergy, magistrates, teachers, police constables, and all who may be in a position to bring the information contained in it within reach of those concerned.

CASSAVA POISONING.

There are two kinds of cassava known in the West Indies. These are the 'bitter' and 'sweet' cassava. Both are largely grown and in some localities the roots afford an important article of food. The roots of the bitter cassava are usually grated and the milky juice is washed out, leaving a coarse flour from which cassava cakes are made. In Brazil and elsewhere cassava flour, known as farine, is eaten cooked or heated on plates and made into tapioca. The roots of sweet cassava are more commonly eaten as a vegetable after they have been boiled or roasted. There are so few differences to be observed between the plants yielding bitter and sweet cassava that children and inexperienced persons may easily take one for the other. Usually the peasants are fully aware of the distinction between them.

It is well known that the fresh roots of the bitter cassava are poisonous. If eaten raw or in a half-cooked conditions they contain prussic acid, and numerous deaths are recorded, every year, in the West Indies due to this cause.

The object of this leaflet is to bring prominently under the notice, especially of the poorer class not only the poisonous character of bitter cassava, but the fact that some kinds of the sweet or roasting cassava (especially from old plants) have been found to be injurious, if not fully or properly cooked.

The record of deaths from cassava poisoning in Barbados has been examined for nearly twenty years. In one year, viz: 1884, twelve inquests were held on persons who had died from cassava poisoning. In subsequent years the number of deaths have been slightly less, but, recently, several deaths have been returned due to cassava poisoning. In two cases the ages of the victims (men) were 57 and 45 years respectively. In a later case the victim was a boy of 9 years. Usually, those that die from cassava poisoning are ill-fed and neglected children. This is a class most difficult to reach unless a special effort is made with that view.

HOW TO PREVENT CASSAVA POISONING.

Although the sweet or roasting cassava is not so poisonous as the bitter cassava, it would be safer to let it be widely known that no kind of cassava should be eaten without being carefully and thoroughly cooked. In preparing cassava for table, it is important to bear in mind that what poison is present lies mostly near the outside of the root. It is desirable, first of all, to scrape off the skin and the outer portion of the root so as to remove the greater part of this poison. In the second place, the roots should be carefully cooked right through so as to drive off any remaining portion of the poison. Further, it would be advisable not to eat cold cassava or cassava that has been allowed to stand for some time after being cooked.

The rules to be followed in preparing cassava, of any kind, for table would be as follows:—

1. Scrape the roots and remove the outside parts.
2. Cook the cassava well and be sure it is heated throughout.
3. Eat cassava only after it has been freshly cooked.

WHAT TO DO FOR CASSAVA POISONING.

If a person after eating cassava feels or looks ill, medical aid should be obtained at once without any delay. That is to say, the doctor should be called, or the patient should be taken to the doctor, or to the nearest hospital, dispensary, or almshouse, where medical aid can be obtained as soon as possible. A few minutes may make all the difference, and no time should be lost. The doctor can inject some medicine under the skin of the arm which may save the patient's life. Therefore lose no time.

While waiting for the doctor to come, or for the cart or trap to take the patient to the doctor, there are several important things to be done which anyone can do. The following things should be done:—

1. Place the patient in the open air, or near the open door of the house.
2. Make the patient vomit by tickling the back of the throat with a finger, a feather, or a piece of grass, and, if he can swallow, make him drink water at intervals after each vomit so that the stomach is washed out thoroughly. If he does not vomit freely, get someone to mix a tablespoonful of 'ground' mustard in a tumbler ('half-pint glass') of warm water—(for a child, a teaspoonful of mustard in half a tumbler of water) and make him drink it off.
3. If the patient begins to get insensible or 'lifeless': Take the clothes from the upper part of the body and pour a large stream of water out of a jug or bucket from a height of three or four feet on to the back of the head, the spine and chest. This should never be left undone.
4. Afterwards dry the body with a rough towel or any coarse garment, and put on some dry clothes and blankets, shawls, or anything to keep him warm. Continue to rub the arms and legs briskly to keep up the circulation. If he gets cold, put some bottles filled with hot water round about him.
5. All this time hold 'smelling salts' to his nostrils every now and then.
6. As soon as the stomach is empty and nothing but water comes up when he vomits, give a strong dose of rum, whisky, or brandy diluted with twice as much water; and if it comes back at once, repeat the dose.
7. If anyone near by knows how to carry out what is called 'artificial respiration,' it should be done if the patient gets very bad and stops breathing.

Those in charge of persons suffering from cassava poisoning should not despair. Some of the worst cases have recovered after energetic treatment. Remember that the patient's life is at stake, and there is no time to consider whether 'wetting him will give him a cold' or any idea of that kind. What is recommended above should be done without fail.

By Command,

A. M. ASHMORE,
Government Secretary.

105.

24th March, 1903.

IN pursuance of section 128 of the Georgetown Town Council Ordinance, 1898, the Report of the Mayor and Town Council of the City of Georgetown for the year 1902, and the Estimate of Ways and Means for the current year, which have been laid before the Governor, are hereby published for general information.

By Command,

A. M. ASHMORE,
Government Secretary.

To His Excellency Sir JAMES ALEXANDER SWETTENHAM, K.C.M.G., Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Colony of British Guiana, Vice-Admiral and Ordinary of the same, &c., &c., &c.

The Report of the Mayor and Town Council of the City of Georgetown, respectfully sheweth—

That your Reporters in accordance with the provisions of the Georgetown Town Council Ordinance, 1898, have now the honour to transmit herewith for the information of Your Excellency the accounts of the Corporation for the year 1902, as follows :—

Statements A and B—Showing the funds of the Mayor and Town Council and the administration thereof from 1st January to 31st December, 1902; the former Statement comprising the sums voted and the actual sums expended; and the latter showing the Estimated Ways and Means for the year 1902; and the actual yield of the items for the year.

Statement C—Is a recapitulation of Statements A and B.

Statement D—Cash account of the Corporation for the year 1902.

Statement E—Showing the revenue and expenditure of Queenstown Ward for 1902.

Statement F—Showing the amount spent from the loan of $240,000 under Ordinance No. 3 of 1888, incorporated in Ordinance No. 25 of 1898.

Statement G—Showing the amount spent on account of Loan Bonds issued under Ordinance No. 1 of 1896, incorporated in Ordinance No. 25 of 1898.

Statement H—Is the Balance Sheet of the Corporation for the year ending 31st December, 1902.

The Estimate for the current year now submitted to Your Excellency amounts to $257,631 02. In it provision has been made for the requirements of the City; and for the repayment of instalments of loans and interest on unpaid capital, falling due during 1903.

A Statement of the Ways and Means to meet such Estimate of $257,631 02 is herewith also submitted to Your Excellency.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A BILL ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE "MILITIA ORDINANCE, 1891."

BE it enacted by the Governor of British Guiana with the advice and consent of the Court of Policy thereof, as follows:—

Short title and construction.

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Militia Ordinance, 1891, Amendment Ordinance, 1903, and this Ordinance and the Militia Ordinance, 1891, hereinafter referred to as the Principal Ordinance, shall be read and construed together as one Ordinance.

Persons eligible to serve in the Force.

2. Every male person who—

(a) is a subject of His Majesty;

(b) is between eighteen and forty-five years of age; and

(c) is not disabled from service by bodily infirmity, shall be eligible to serve in the Militia Force in the City or County in which for the time being he resides: Provided that nothing in this Ordinance shall prevent an alien who is otherwise qualified for service from being enrolled if he consents in writing to being so enrolled, and such alien shall be in the same position in all respects as if he were a subject of His Majesty enrolled and serving in the Force.

Composition of Company.

3. The members of any Company shall be the persons eligible or liable to serve in the Force residing in the City or County to which such Company belongs, who offer themselves for enrolment and have been accepted by the Commandant for service in such Company.

Medical examination of candidates before enrolment.

4.—(1.) No candidate shall be enrolled until he has been medically examined as to his physical fitness for service as a member of the Force.

(2.) The medical examination shall be held by such person or persons as may for the time being be directed by the Governor.

(3.) If the candidate passes the medical examination he shall be enrolled as a member of the Force.

Amendment of section 7
of Principal Ordinance.

5. Section 7 of the Principal Ordinance shall be read and construed as if the words "eligible or" were inserted therein in the first line thereof between the words "persons" and "liable."

Amendment of section 13
of Principal Ordinance.

6. Sub-section (1) of section 13 of the Principal Ordinance shall be read and construed as if the words "eligible or" were inserted therein in the second line thereof between the words "persons" and "liable."

Repeal.

7. Section 40 of the Principal Ordinance is hereby repealed.

Existing members to remain members of the Force.

8. Every member of the Force serving in it at the date of the coming into operation of this Ordinance, shall be deemed to have been properly and legally enrolled, notwithstanding that at the date of such enrolment he was not eligible or liable to serve in the Force.

A BILL ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO MAKE PRO-"VISION FOR THE PENSIONS OF CERTAIN PUBLIC
"OFFICERS."

WHEREAS by Resolutions passed on the eighth day of April, 1902, and the twenty-first day of January, 1903, the Combined Court made provision as to the pensions to be paid to public officers in the service of the Colony;

And whereas effect has been given to the said Resolutions by the Pensions Ordinance, 1903;

And whereas doubts have arisen as to the rights of certain public officers under the said Ordinance;

And whereas by a Resolution passed on the said twenty-first day of January, 1903, the Combined Court determined that a pension should be granted to Dr. Charles Wilberforce Daniels, a Medical Officer of the Colony, upon the terms and upon the conditions therein referred to;

And whereas by a Resolution passed on the twenty-first day of January, 1903, the Combined Court determined that a pension should be granted to Andrew Robert Carroll, Bandmaster of the British Guiana Militia, upon the terms and under the conditions therein referred to;

And whereas it is expedient to remove the said doubts and to give effect to the said Resolutions;

Be it enacted by the Governor of British Guiana, with the advice and consent of the Court of Policy thereof, as follows:—

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Special Pensions Short title. Ordinance, 1903.

2. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Pensions Ordinance, 1903, the public officers mentioned in the Schedule to this Ordinance, shall have and enjoy the rights as to pensions, and be under the liabilities provided by the Public Officers' (Pensions) Ordinance, 1875, as amended by the Statute Laws Revision Ordinance, (No. 5), 1895, as if the same had not been repealed, and the provisions of the Pensions Ordinance, 1903, shall not apply to them: Provided that if after the passing of this Ordinance any such public officer is promoted to any other office in the Colony, the salary of which exceeds the salary of his former office by twenty per cent. or one hundred pounds, whichever amount may be the lower, his rights and liabilities under this Ordinance shall cease and determine, and the provisions of the Pensions Ordinance, 1903, shall apply to him.

Pension rights of officers in Schedule to be under the old law.

3. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary therein contained, the provisions of the Pensions Ordinance, 1903, shall apply to the Honourable Alexander Murray Ashmore, C.M.G., Government Secretary of the Colony.

Pension rights of Mr. A. M. Ashmore.

Pension to
Dr. Daniels.

4. SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 15TH DAY OF APRIL, 1903.

SMALL, Appellant,
versus

McPHERSON and ANOTHER, Respondents.

This is an appeal from a decision of Mr. S. G. T. Bourke, Stipendiary Magistrate, South Essequibo.

Judicial District convicting the appellant under sect. 48 (1) Ord. 17 of 1893 of the offence of removing certain notice boards posted up for the purpose of forbidding and warning trespassers on plantation Mora on the East Bank of the Essequibo river.

The reasons for appeal (shortly stated) are (1) that the Magistrate exceeded his jurisdiction a bona fide question of title to the said plantation having arisen on the evidence before him: (2) that the decision is erroneous in point of law: (a) the evidence shewing that the appellant removed the notice boards in the presence of the respondents' agent, stating his reason for so doing; (b) the evidence shewing that the respondents were not the owners or agents of the owners of the land whereon the boards were set up, and not shewing any right or authority in them to place the boards thereon, (c) the evidence shewing that the appellant claimed to be one of the co-owners of the plantation and could not, therefore, be convicted of the offence charged; and (3) that the decision is wholly unwarranted by the evidence.

It appears from the evidence taken by the Magistrate that the respondents claim to be entitled under their father's will to one undivided fifth of the north half of plantation Mora, and that the appellant is one of the testamentary heirs of one Joseph Small, who is alleged to have been, and who by an agreement of the 22nd Oct., 1894, was admitted by the respondents' father to have been one of the four owners of the remaining four undivided fifth parts of the same land; that the respondents put up two notice boards in different spots forbidding and warning trespassers, to which boards their names only were subscribed; that the appellant passing by told the respondents' servant whom he called to him that the respondents were villains because they had not put his (appellant's) name on the boards; and that the appellant then pulled down one of the boards and carried it away.

It is, I think, clear from sect. 51 of Ord. 17 of 1893, which requires proceedings to be taken by owners or their agents, and from the other provisions of Title V of the Ordinance and from the law as to the rights and duties of co-owners of undivided property that the offence contemplated by sect. 48 (1) is an offence committed by a person who is not a co-owner of the land on which the notice is put up, and, in my opinion, under the circumstances in this case a question of title bona fide arose which ousted the jurisdiction of the Magistrate (17 of 1893, sect. 11: Cornwall v. Sanders, 32 L. J. Ma. C. 6; c. f. Bowen v. Buttery, 19th Apr. 1889, a case of alleged malicious injury to property.)

This Court is not bound by any conclusion of the Magistrate as to whether any such question has so arisen (Gomes v. Green, 20th Feb., 1867), and as, in my opinion such question did arise in this case, the Magistrate's decision on the whole case must be reversed, and the appeal allowed with costs.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

SIRTAGEE, Appellant,

versus

KOMAL, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the decision of the Magistrate of the West Judicial District, who confirmed a levy made on a mare at the instance of Komal, for a judgment obtained against one Guya Maraj.

The reasons of appeal are:—

1. That the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence, in like manner as if the case had been tried by a jury there would not have been sufficient evidence to sustain a verdict.

2. That the decision is erroneous in point of law,—

(a.) Because it was legally established by the evidence taken before the Magistrate that the ownership of the animal in question, viz., a chestnut mare, was in the plaintiff.

(b.) Because it was legally established by the evidence before the Magistrate that the animal in question, viz., a chestnut mare, was in the possession and under the control of the plaintiff, the true owner.

(c.) Because the reason given by the Magistrate for arriving at the decision he did, viz., that Guya held himself out to be the owner does not support his decision, and affords no ground for negating the plaintiff's ownership in the animal claimed.

In his memorandum of reasons the Magistrate goes over the evidence, and concludes by saying, "Counsel admits the contradiction in the case for the plaintiff."

It is useless making any comment on such a case as this, except to say plaintiff never had any right of property in the mare. Guya held himself out to be the owner. The mare is thus the property of Guya, and levy is confirmed. Fee to counsel for defence, and costs to be taxed."

It appears that one Roopchund sold a mare to the appellant, and took a promissory note, payable in 8 months, for the price.

The mare was never delivered, but was kept in the vendor's stable, the appellant, it is said, paying for the feed of the animal and for the rent of the stable.

It was argued that the possession of the vendor was the possession of the plaintiff in the Court below (appellant), and is a complete bar against a third party.

The Magistrate did not believe the evidence of the plaintiff, for he terms it a mass of contradictory evidence. With this opinion the appellate Court will not interfere. On the other hand, he appears to have believed the defence.

From all the evidence it is clear that the mare was never in the possession of the appellant. She gave a promissory note, but did not take delivery. It is said there was constructive delivery, but that argument is not tenable. What the Magistrate had to find was as between the parties before him, whether the claimant had made out her claim or not. The vendor gave evidence for the plaintiff. He said he kept the mare, as plaintiff had not paid for it.

I think the Magistrate was right in his decision.

I dismiss the appeal with costs.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

SAMUEL PEMBROKE, Appellant.

versus

Executor of CATHERINE COX, Deceased, Respondent.

After a careful perusal of the affidavits filed, I am of opinion that the plaintiff is not entitled to the judgment he asks for on the specially endorsed writ, and that the defendant ought to be permitted to defend the action. I therefore give leave to defend.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

KOONJAH, Appellant,

versus

LUCKEY, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the decision of the Acting Magistrate of the North Essequibo Judicial District.

The reasons of appeal are the usual ones, but, as the learned counsel for the appellant stated, the question is really one of facts, the only points being: 1st, that the amount for which judgment was obtained was alleged to have been lent in October, 1901, whereas the land for the purchase of which the money was said to be lent was bought in June, 1901; and secondly, that as the plaintiff is the father of the defendant (appellant), the law presumes the money given to be a gift.

In his Memorandum of Reasons for decision, the Magistrate, after reviewing the evidence given, states that he "came to the conclusion that the defendant and her witness, Ojageer's testimony was unreliable." With this decision this Court will not interfere. The discrepancy in the alleged date of the loan and the evidence as to when the land was purchased was not commented on in the Court below, but is not sufficient to warrant the reversal of the Magistrate's decision.

As to the presumption that the money was a gift, it is only necessary to say that the appellant lived with one man for a considerable time, and now lives with another, and is not under parental control.

I dismiss the appeal, but, as there was no appearance on behalf of the respondent, I give no costs.

JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

THIS 16TH DAY OF APRIL, 1903.

GOMES, Appellant,

versus

PESTANO, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a decision of Mr. H. Fernandes, Warden of the Cuyuni Mining district, disallowing the appellant's claim to jump a certain mining claim held by the respondent, on a preliminary objection that an authorized agent under a prospecting licence cannot jump a claim for and on behalf of the holder of that licence.

The ground of appeal is in substance and effect that the Warden's decision upholding that objection is erroneous in law.

An objection to the hearing of the appeal was taken by the respondent on the ground that the notice of appeal was served not on the Government Officer from whose decision the appeal was made, as was required by sect. 23 of the Mining Ordinance, 1896, but on the Commissioner of Mines, under sect. 73 of the Mining Ordinance, 1903.

The question whether this service was sufficient depends on whether the appeal in the present case is governed by the latter enactment. The provisions as to appeals contained in the Mining Ordinance, 1903, apply only to appeals under the Mining Regulations contained in the First Schedule, or subsequently made under sect. 82 (sect. s. 72, and 2); and those Mining Regulations empower a Government Officer to decide only disputes arising thereunder (Reg. 153) and in my opinion Regulation 168 gives a right of appeal from his decision in such cases only. It appears, however, from the proceedings that the dispute in this case arose under the Amended Mining Regulations, 1899, and, therefore, the appellant's right of appeal (if any) was not conferred by the new Regulations and was not governed by the new law.

Notice of appeal has, therefore, not been given as required by law, and the appeal is dismissed with costs.

TELEPHONE SERVICE.

GENERAL POST OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,
21st April, 1903.

THE Postmaster General begs leave to notify Renters that in view of the early dismantling of the old Georgetown Exchange, it will be necessary to at once suspend certain services, and the Renter concerned will in each case be notified by his telephone through the Exchange.

The entire service will be suspended at the end of the present month.

The charge for the new Service will be made as from 1st July next, and the attention of Renters is called to the following Regulations, which will govern the payment of such rents:—

Sec. 7. All charges shall be payable at the General Post Office in advance and the rent quarterly in advance. If the rent be not paid within 10 days after it has become due the service may be discontinued without prejudice to the right of the Postmaster General to recover the rental for the remainder of the term stipulated in the agreement. Provided that in the event of a connection being required from a date other than the first day of a quarter the first payment shall include the rent for the broken period in addition to the first quarter's rent. The quarter days shall be the 1st of January, 1st of April, 1st of July and 1st of October, in each year.

All persons who desire to have a telephone Service on the new Exchange and who have not yet given notice of the same, are hereby notified that the new List of Renters will now be closed and their application should be sent in at once.

F. W. COLLIER,
Postmaster General.

GUIANA PUBLIC BUILDINGS,
Georgetown, Demerara,

23rd April, 1903.

THE following Rules, made by the Governor-in-Council under Section 5 of the Public Officers' (Insurance) Ordinance, 1902, on the 20th day of April, 1903, are published for general information.

By Command,

J. HAMPDEN KING,
Clerk of Council.

RULES MADE UNDER "THE PUBLIC OFFICERS' (INSURANCE) ORDINANCE, 1902."

1 Every Officer may select the Company, Society or Association in which he wishes to be insured, provided that the Governor-in-Council is satisfied of the solvency of the said Company, Society or Association.

2. Assurances may be effected on the terms that the Assurer may continue to pay premiums during his life, or up to the age of sixty years, or that he shall pay a limited number of premiums to be approved by the Governor-in-Council, at the option of the assured, and that the policy money shall be payable at the death of the assured or when he attains the age of sixty years, or some other age to be approved by the Governor-in-Council.

3. Every policy must contain a provision that at any time, at the request of the person in whom it is vested, it may be converted into a fully paid-up policy in respect of the premiums paid up to the time of such request, in accordance with the rules as to such conversion of the said Company, Society or Association.

4. No Officer shall have the right to draw any bonus declared, or use it in reduction of premiums; such bonuses shall in every case be allowed to augment the policy and become payable together with the capital sum at the maturity of the policy: Provided, however, that any rebate on premiums allowed for residence in a lower rated climate may be used by the Officer in payment of his premiums.

Made by the Governor-in-Council under Section 5 of the Public Officers' (Insurance) Ordinance, 1902, this 20th day of April, 1903.

By Command,

J. HAMPDEN KING,
Clerk of Council.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 15TH DAY OF APRIL, 1903.

GOUD,

versus

SOOBHUGEA.

This is an action to restrain the passing by the defendant of transport of the west half of lot letter H, part of the eastern half of the abandoned Plantation Abery. The plaintiff also, by the action, claims that the defendant be ordered to transport to him an undivided half of the said lot letter H, or pay to him the sum of $300, being for moneys paid, advanced, and expended by the plaintiff for the defendant at her request in and about the said property, and the further sum of $100, as damages.

The plaintiff alleges that, in consideration of his clearing, fencing off and cultivating with cocoanuts, &c., the said lot letter H, paying the expenses for obtaining a transport of the property and erecting a building thereon for the habitation of the defendant, the defendant agreed to transport to him an undivided half of the property; that he carried out his part of the agreement and in so doing expended the sum of $300, whereby great benefit has accrued to the defendant.

From the evidence it appears that the defendant, who is an old woman, after the death of her husband entered into an agreement with the plaintiff as to the working of her property. The agreement, however, was not the one set out in the pleadings. The evidence on the plaintiff's behalf shows that the agreement entered into was that the plaintiff and defendant should work in partnership, that the plaintiff should take care of the defendant until her death, and that the defendant should at her death leave her property half to the plaintiff and half to her adopted son, Jhankee. As stated by the plaintiff's witness Leander, that was the agreement made and it is a common agreement made both by coolies and black people. The plaintiff himself in his evidence says that the defendant asked him to work partner.

I am of opinion also on the evidence that the plaintiff, possibly thinking the old lady was living too long, demanded from her transport of the half of the property at once, and on his being refused he himself put an end to the agreement by leaving the defendant over two years ago with all his goods. It is now over seven years since the plaintiff and defendant became "partners," the plaintiff finished clearing the land and building the house more than four years ago and it is very remarkable that he has so long delayed bringing any action for the transport he says he is entitled to.

It is said that the defendant has been benefited by the money expended by the plaintiff on the property and she is by law obliged to refund the money so expended by the plaintiff. I am not satisfied that the money expended was wholly the plaintiff's: it came from the working of the "partnership," whether the defendant got more than her share it is impossible at this date to say. I do not consider it at all likely that the plaintiff who had sole control would have allowed her to have more than her share. It is also said that the plaintiff when he left took with him cattle and money which he had acquired from the working of the partnership, but again it is impossible to say if he got more or less than his share.

Under the circumstances I do not consider that the plaintiff has any cause of action against the defendant or any ground for opposing the transport and his action fails. There will be judgment for the defendant with costs.

A. V. LUCIE SMITH, J.

GENERAL CIVIL JURISDICTION

THIS 20TH DAY OF APRIL, 1903.

MARSHALL, Plaintiff,

versus

Executors of JAMES THOMSON, deceased, Defendants.

By his statement of claim in this action the plaintiff alleges in substance the following facts:— (1) that the late J. Thomson and his wife Charlotte Augusta intermarried after execution on the 8th December, 1895, of an antenuptial contract, excluding community of existing or after acquired property, providing that during the marriage and within six months after its dissolution she should have the option after a proper statement of his affairs and property had been laid before her, of sharing in the profits and losses arising during the marriage or of taking back the property brought by her into the marriage or subsequently acquired with all the improvements, &c., the jus dotis et legalis hypothecae being expressly reserved, and further providing that on the death of either of them the survivor should forthwith make a correct inventory of the property of the deceased at the time of death; (2) that C. A. Thomson died on the 11th of August, 1897, and, by her last will dated the 14th February, 1877, as stated in the statement of claim, bequeathed the usufruct of all the property she might die possessed of to her husband the said James Thomson, and after his death she gave and bequeathed all such property to her minor daughter Amy Lucille, and appointed J. Thomson, sole executor of her will and sole guardian; (3) that J. Thomson accepted the office of and acted as executor, that he never made an inventory of the property of C. A. Thomson at the time of her death, but duly elected to share in the profits and losses which had arisen during their marriage, that he on the 22nd November, 1897, delivered the Receiver General an account and declaration of the movable estate and effects of C. A. Thomson, the gross value being estimated at $7,520, and on the 23rd November, 1897, duly deposited her will in the Registrar's Office; (4) that the plaintiff and Amy Lucille Thomson married with community of goods on the 23rd September, 1899 and J. Thomson, subsequently and without the plaintiff's knowledge and consent, retained property belonging to Amy Lucille Marshall; (5) that Amy Lucille died intestate and without issue on the 13th March, 1900, and (6) that J. Thomson died on the 16th April, 1902, and by his last will dated the 24th August 1900, gave to the plaintiff "all the property which the said Amy Lucille Marshall would have received from her mother the said Charlotte Augusta Thomson had she the said Amy Lucille Marshall survived him the said James Thomson," and left certain residuary legatees and appointed as executors the persons therein named who have since accepted the appointment and are now acting as executors.

On these allegations the plaintiff claims (a) an account of the property of A. L. Marshall which J. Thomson at the date of her marriage had in his custody, possession or power; (b) an account of his dealings with the property of C. A. Thomson from the date of their marriage till her death; (c) an account of his property at the date of her death; (d) an account of his dealings with C. A. Thomson's property from her death until his own death; (e) payment of what may be found due to the plaintiff, and (f) an injunction restraining the defendants from parting with or distributing his estate until such payment has been made.

On behalf of the defendants it has been contended by way of what was formerly known in English Law as demurrer: (1) that even if the heirs of testator might be required to render the accounts sought, his executors cannot be ordered to render them; and (2) that no sufficient ground for the relief sought has been laid by the plaintiff's statement of claim; and, therefore, the action must be dismissed.

The argument in support of both these contentions has rested in a great measure on the assumption that the Court can give in any action such relief only as is specifically asked. But Order xviii. Rule 3 of the Rules of Court 1900 provides that relief may always be given to the same extent as if the statement of claim had contained a claim for "general or other relief," and under a claim for "general or other relief," a plaintiff could always obtain any relief provided (1) the facts stated would sustain a prayer for such relief, and (2) such relief was not inconsistent with the case made out by the facts stated and the relief specifically asked for (Hiern v. Mill, 13 Ves. 119; Cargill v. Bower, 10 Ch. D. 508.) The legacy given to the plaintiff by the will of the late J. Thomson was a legacy not of a specific thing but of a universitas rerum consisting of whatever the plaintiff's wife had she survived the testator would have acquired from her mother, C. A. Thomson, a kind of legacy known to the Roman Dutch Law (Voet ad Pand. xxx-xxxii., 19.) It is the duty of an heir to tender possession of a legacy to the legatee (Voet xxx-xxxii. i.), and this obligation is also incumbent on an executor the payment of legacies being one of his duties (Van der Linden i. 9. 10.) and he being liable to an action by the legatee for the legacy, (Van der Linden i. 9. i.) On possession being tendered a legatee has a jus deliberandi before accepting the possession so tendered (Voet ad Pand. xxx-xxxii., 10 and 37.) and by analogy to the rights of an heir under similar circumstances is by virtue of this jus deliberandi entitled to obtain from the executor who has entered on his office, and, therefore, has taken possession of the estate of the deceased all the information as to the legacy which can be supplied from the accounts, books, papers, documents, &c., of the deceased, and which can guide and aid the legatee in determining whether to accept the possession tendered him (Voet ad Pand. xxviii. 8. 6.) In the present instance, the statement of claim is not very skillfully drawn, but in substance the case made by it, considered by itself, is, we think, such as on the principles already mentioned, entitles the plaintiff to some relief, and to obtain such relief from the executors. The action cannot, therefore, be now dismissed and the hearing must be continued.

The plaintiff has asked by his statement of claim that an injunction be granted to restrain the defendants from parting with the assets in their hands until payment has been made to him of whatever may be found due to him, and application has now been made for an interlocutory injunction limited to the object of keeping things in statu quo, so that if the plaintiff obtains judgment in his favour, the defendants will have been prevented sending the assets out of the jurisdiction, or otherwise dealing with them so as to make that judgment ineffectual. As already said the plaintiff, unless the case made out by his statement of claim is substantially altered by the evidence to be put forward, is probably entitled to relief. It is also, we think, clear that great injury may be done to him if the injunction is refused, while little or no damage can be caused to the defendants by granting it, and the balance of convenience is therefore on the side of its being granted. Under these circumstances, we think that having regard to sect. 37 of the Supreme Court Ordinance, 1893, and to the general principles applicable in cases where an interlocutory injunction is applied for (Preston v. Luck, L.R. 27 Ch. D. 497; Challender v. Boyle, L.R. 36 Ch. D. 425; Republic of Peru v. Dreyfus Brothers and Co., L.R. 38, Ch. D. 348), an injunction should be granted in this case up to the date when on completion of the hearing the decision of the Court is given without prejudice, however, to the plaintiff's right (if any) to ask on the hearing being proceeded with that the injunction be continued. But, in accordance with the practice laid down in the English Courts, the injunction will, at this stage of the proceedings, be granted on the terms that the plaintiff enter into an undertaking to abide by any order this Court may make as to damages in case this Court should hereafter be of opinion that the defendants have sustained any by reason of the granting of the injunction which the plaintiff ought to pay.

PURSUANT to an Order granted by His Honour Alfred Van Waterschoot Lucie Smith, Puisne Judge of British Guiana, bearing date 8th April, 1903, on the petition of Henry Finlayson, an inhabitant of the county of Demerary and colony of British Guiana.

I, the undersigned Registrar of British Guiana, or my lawful deputy, will expose for sale to the highest bidder, in presence of a Sworn Clerk or Assistant Sworn Clerk, at the Victoria Law Courts, in the city of Georgetown, on Monday, the 4th day of May, 1903, at 12 o'clock, noon:—

In behalf of the abovenamed petitioner versus Joseph de Freitas, an inhabitant of the county of Demerary and colony aforesaid:—A piece of land running parallel with the public road and measuring four and a half rods in width by twenty-one rods in depth, situated on the front lands of plantation Cove and John, East Coast, of the county of Demerary, and immediately to west of the portion of said lands in the occupation of J. E. Wegman.

All persons having any right, title, interest or claim in and to any of the above properties, and who may have just grounds to oppose the sale thereof, are hereby required to do so in due form at the Registrar's Office in Georgetown, within fourteen days after the first Saturday's Advertisement, setting forth his, her or their reasons of opposition in writing, duly signed by a Barrister-at-Law, or Solicitor, and thereafter to proceed according to law. Those inclined to purchase will attend at the time and place beforementioned, provided with the securities required by law, whose names must be tendered for approval before the day of sale.

Payment must be made as follows:—One Hundred Dollars and under, cash; exceeding $100—the purchaser or purchasers shall, unless they pay the purchase money at the time of the sale, forthwith deposit with the Marshal 25 per cent. of the purchase money, and shall, if the purchase money does not exceed the sum of $500, pay the balance by three equal instalments, from the day of sale, with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, at the expiration of one, two and three months, respectively, and if the purchase money exceeds the sum of $500 he shall pay such balance with such interest by three equal instalments at the expiration of two, four and six months, respectively.

In the event of the purchaser making default in payment of any of the instalments, the amount of the deposit shall be forfeited; and the property may, after being re-advertised, be put up for sale at auction and sold.

Registrar's Office of British Guiana, Georgetown, this 17th day of April, 1903.

"INTRODUCTION INTO THIS COLONY OF DISEASES "OF PLANTS."

BE it enacted by the Governor of British Guiana, with the advice and consent of the Court of Policy thereof, as follows:— Short title.

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Importation of Plant Diseases Prevention Ordinance, 1903.

2.—(1.) It shall be lawful for the Governor-in-Council on the recommendation of the Board of Agriculture, by Proclamation to be published in The Gazette, to prohibit the importation of any seeds, plants, or any description of earth or soil, or any article packed therewith, or any package, covering or thing that may have come directly or indirectly from any country or place named in such Proclamation, which, in his opinion, are likely to be a means of introducing any plant disease from such country or place.

Governor-in-Council may prohibit or restrict importation of plants, &c., from any place.

(2.) In like manner the Governor-in-Council may prescribe the conditions under which alone the importation of any of the articles aforesaid shall be permitted that may have come directly or indirectly from any country named in such Proclamation.

(3.) The Governor-in-Council may from time to time vary or revoke any such Proclamation.

Articles coming from a place from which importation prohibited or restricted to be deemed prohibited goods under Customs Ordinance.

3. Any of the articles aforesaid coming as aforesaid from any country or place the importation from which is for the time being prohibited, and any of the articles aforesaid arriving as aforesaid from a country or place the importation from which is permitted upon conditions only, until and unless such conditions shall have been complied with to the satisfaction of the Comptroller of Customs shall be deemed to be prohibited goods within the meaning of the Customs Ordinance, 1884, and any such conditions as aforesaid shall be deemed to be restrictions within the meaning of the said Ordinance.

Burden of proof that goods not prohibited or restricted thrown on importer.

4. So long as any Proclamation as aforesaid is in force, any of the articles aforesaid coming from parts beyond the sea may be deemed to have come from a place the importation from which is prohibited as aforesaid, and may be treated accordingly, unless the importer satisfies the Comptroller of Customs to the contrary.

REGULATIONS MADE BY THE CENTRAL BOARD OF HEALTH UNDER SECTION 122 OF THE PUBLIC HEALTH ORDINANCE, 1878.

1. As to the speedy interment of the Dead.

1. The Medical Officer of any Local Authority shall have the power to order the body of any person who has died from any epidemic, endemic or infectious disease to be removed immediately after death to any place or mortuary set apart for that purpose by the Local Authority, and to be buried within such time as he may direct.

2. The head of the household, or occupier of the building in which the death takes place, or in the case of a vessel, the master, shall be responsible for the carrying out of such order, but should there be in the opinion of the Medical Officer undue delay in obeying such order, he shall have such order carried out at the expense of the person responsible.

3. The body of such deceased person shall be placed in a coffin with chlorinated lime or other suitable disinfectant, and shall be buried at such place, and in accordance with such instructions as the Local Authority shall direct.

4. Holding of "wakes," large funeral assemblages and exposure of the corpse to visitors at the house, room, yard or mortuary is prohibited.

5. All Inspectors appointed by the Local Authority to see to the execution of these Regulations, shall be under the immediate control and direction of the Medical Officer, and shall report to him at least twice daily the results of their inspection. Should a case of any epidemic, endemic, or infectious disease come under their notice, they shall immediately report it to the Medical Officer.

II. As to House to House Visitation.

6. Every Local Authority shall make suitable arrangements by discreet and competent persons for house-to-house, and in the case of tenement houses, for room-to-room visitation for the purpose of

- (a.) making immediate enquiries regarding the number of persons suffering from any of the above diseases ;
- (b.) ascertaining the number of persons and children unprotected by vaccination or re-vaccination ;
- (c.) isolating and nursing the sick and separating the contacts ;
- (d.) discovering unreported or suspicious cases of illness.

III. As to Medical aid, accommodation, cleansing, ventilation and disinfection of infected house and guarding against spread of disease.

7. The Local Authority shall appoint as many Medical Officers as may be necessary to visit daily all houses or yards in which any infectious disease is known, or suspected to exist. Such Officers shall immediately report the result of their inspection to the Medical Officer of Health. All Officers appointed by the Local Authority for the execution of these Regulations shall be under the control and direction of the Medical Officer of Health.

8. Every Local Authority shall—

- (a.) Remove any accumulation, stink or soakage, or house refuse, or of other decaying animal, or vegetable matter ;
- (b.) Cleanse all sewers, drains, foul ditches, or ponds ;
- (c.) See to the ventilation of sewers and the trapping of house drains, scavenging of the District, the cleanliness of the surface of the ground, receptacles for excrement, of ash pits or dust bins. In the removal of filth, chemical agents such as sulphate of iron, or chlorinated lime, or carbolic acid are to be used, and the exposed surface shall be freely covered by the chemical agent. Unpaved earth close to dwellings, if it be sodden with slops or filth, shall be treated in the same way ;
- (d.) Enforce free ventilation in infected houses ;
- (e.) Prevent overcrowding.
- (f.) Order the cleanliest domestic habits ; and
- (g.) Require the washing and lime-whiting of all uncleanly premises.

9. Every Local Authority shall immediately, after the removal or death of a patient suffering from any of the abovementioned diseases, thoroughly disinfect the house or rooms and things in connection with the case, to the satisfaction of the Medical Officer of Health.

10. Provision by the Local Authority for disinfection by steam of bulky articles and of those which cannot without injury be boiled in water or exposed to chemical agencies, shall, if possible always be in readiness, and failing this the aforesaid articles shall be at once destroyed, and the Local Authority shall give compensation for same.

11. Temporary shelter or house accommodation is to be provided, and food if necessary, for the members of any family in which infectious disease has appeared and who are compelled to leave their dwellings for the purpose of enabling such dwellings to be disinfected by the Local Authority.

12. Every Local Authority with the advice of the Medical Officer of Health shall take every precaution to prevent the spread of any of the abovementioned diseases.

13. Every Local Authority shall take steps to prevent unnecessary association of sick with healthy persons.

14. After the removal or death of a patient suffering from infectious disease, the remaining inmates of the house and other persons who are known to come into contact with infection shall be kept under observation of the Medical Officer of Health, during a period of not less than 14 days, in order that in the event of any of them contracting the disease it may be recognised at an early stage, and thus enable the Local Authority to take prompt measures for preventing its further spread.

15. Every Local Authority shall by handbills or placards inform the public as far as possible what real precautions they can take against the disease which threatens them, what vigilance is necessary with regard to its early symptoms and what special arrangements have been made for giving medical aid in the district, and to assist the less educated and the destitute part of the population to do what is needful for safety.

16. Any expense incurred by a Local Authority under Regulations 2 and 9 hereof shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Local Authority by the person responsible.

17. These Regulations shall, on confirmation by the Governor and Court of Policy, come into force in all Sanitary Districts of the Colony for a period of twelve months and shall apply to any vessels within the Colony or within the territorial waters thereof accordingly.

The Regulations made by the Central Board of Health under Section 122 of the Public Health Ordinance, 1878, and approved by the Governor and Court of Policy, on the 26th day of November, 1902, are hereby repealed.

Made by the Central Board of Health and sealed with their Seal, this 23rd day of April, 1903.

By Command,

H. A. CAMERON,
Secretary.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

GENERAL CIVIL JURISDICTION.

THIS 20TH DAY OF APRIL, 1903.

Re THE ESTATE OF A. B. BARNARD, DECEASED.— THE PETITION OF JACOB HENRY DE JONGE.

The petitioner, who is the sole executor under the will of A. B. Barnard, deceased, asks by this petition that certain questions and matters be disposed of and certain directions given by the Court under the provisions of the Administration Ordinance 1887.

The Administration Ordinance is derived from the English law; section 3, which gives the right to a guardian, executor &c., to apply to the Court for its opinion advice or direction on any question respecting the management or administration of the property under his charge or respecting his conduct as such guardian, executor &c., being taken from Lord St. Leonard's Act (22 and 23 Vict. c. 35 sec. 30.) and section 5 from the English Rules of Court, Order 55 rule 3. The provisions of section 30 of Lord St. Leonard's Act were rendered obsolete by the Rules of Court, 1883, and were repealed by the Trustees Act, 1893 (56 and 57 Vict. c. 53). In Re Estate of True, ex parte Sherrington, 1 L. R. B. G., N. S. 224, Chalmers, C. J. held that section 5 of the Ordinance must be read with sections 3 and 4 as going to define the questions with regard to which persons administering property can come to the Court. It appears to us, however, that section 5 is distinct from sections 3 and 4; it is derived from a different source and under section 3, only the guardian, executor, &c., can make the application, whereas section 7 provides for an application being made by "any person other than the guardian, executor, &c.," which application can only be made under section 5. The law in England previous to Lord St. Leonard's Act and the Rules of Court 1883, was very different from the law in this colony before the Administration Ordinance. In England there was a machinery for making enquiries, &c. by the Masters in Chancery, and there were statutes and rules of Court, providing specifically for the procedure in making such enquiries and that machinery and those provisions still exist, whereas, there are no such enactments rules or machinery provided by the laws of this Colony. In the absence of such machinery and provisions the Court cannot, we think, under the Ordinance, do any thing save express an opinion on different questions put to it under the circumstances detailed in the application made. Also, any question asked should be specific and not in such a general form as in the present petition, and in dealing with the questions and matters raised, the facts must be taken to be as stated in the petition of the Executor, &c. who takes the risk of any misstatement, (Barrington's Settlements, Johns and Hem. 142.)

With these preliminary remarks we proceed to deal with the different questions or matters the Court is asked to dispose of, and which are numbered 1 to 11 in the prayer of the petition.

1. The petitioner prays that the heirs under the will or otherwise or the persons now entitled to the residuary estate of the said A. B. Barnard and their respective shares be ascertained. During the argument it was said that the petitioner wished the Court to direct him what kind of evidence is sufficient as to the identity of the persons claiming. If this is what is intended by this prayer, the Court can only say that the evidence required as to identity, must be such as would satisfy any reasonable person. The Court has not the machinery to make enquiries as to the identity of Jabez Shaw Barnard who claims to act for himself and as Attorney of all his legatees except one, they cannot bring the Captain of the Nova Scotia Schooner, who identified him before them, in fact, as far as we know, he is not now in the Colony. It is purely a matter for the Executor to say if he is satisfied (c. f. Re Chapman 72 L. T. 66). If the prayer is intended to enquire from the Court, if any of the residuary legatees on the facts before it are proved to be dead, and if any are proved to be dead, how their shares are to be disposed of, we think those questions will be sufficiently dealt with when the applications Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5 are disposed of. If neither of these is intended, the will itself clearly indicates who are the persons entitled to the residuary estate.

2. The Court cannot itself make enquiries as to whether A. B. Williams is dead and whether he died unmarried, for the reasons already mentioned, nor can it give precise directions as to what enquiries should be made by the Executor, who would not in conducting such enquiries, be acting as an officer of the Court and under its immediate supervision and control. The Court can only express the opinion that the evidence put before it is not sufficient to prove that H. B. Williams is dead and that he died unmarried. The sole evidence is the statutory declaration by Jabez S. Barnard that M. B. Williams died in Guatemala unmarried, and (amongst other points) J. S. Barnard does not state how he derives his knowledge of this fact or that he was ever in Guatemala, nor when he last saw H. B. Williams.

3. The Court is of opinion that the evidence as to the death of Silas Barnard is sufficient. J. S. Barnard declares that he died at his (J. S. Barnard's) residence, and the testator before his death told the executor that his father (Silas Barnard) was dead.

4. As the death of H. B. Williams has not, in our opinion, been satisfactorily proved, it is premature to consider whether the Court can, under the Ordinance, give directions or express an opinion as to how his share should be disposed of.

5. The will provides for the disposal of the share of Silas Barnard, viz: it is to be divided between the four brothers of the deceased; and as already mentioned, any question that may arise in consequence of the alleged death of H. B. Williams does not yet arise.

6. There is no power under the law to confirm an act already done; if there is any objection to the payment of the legacies the question can be raised on the Executor's accounts and the Court cannot now by confirming what the Executor has done take away the rights of parties to object to those accounts. The Court can give no directions as to the course the Executor should pursue with regard to a matter which has been already closed by him.

7. The petitioner states that, from his knowledge acquired as agent for the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States of America, by the law of the United States a special appointment of a guardian for a minor whose father is alive, is necessary. The Court cannot, on the materials before it, express any opinion as to what is the law of the United States of America on this point. It will be for the Executor to satisfy himself whether the father of the minor Alexander Cozens Barnard is the proper person to whom the share of the estate of the deceased should be paid.

8. The petitioner states that all the debts of the estate are paid, and it appears that all the specific legacies, except one, have also been paid. It is not alleged that it is necessary to sell the diamond claims already unsold to pay this outstanding legacy. Under these circumstances, the Court is of opinion that the Executor has no authority to sell those diamond claims, but should hand the same over to the residuary legatees. From the petition it appears that the 9 claims with respect to which an option was given have been sold and directions are asked as regards the remaining six only.

9. The Court is of the same opinion regarding the Barlens properties, viz: that they should not be sold, but be handed over to the residuary legatees.

10. The Court is of opinion that the 2% was rightly deducted from the legacies on account of estate duty, (see secs. 12 and 27 of the Estate Duty Ordinance, 1898.)

11. The Court has no power as pointed out in answer 6, to confirm an act already done by an executor and therefore cannot confirm the sale of the business property and assets of Barnard & Co. mentioned in para. 25 of the petition.

No direction has been asked as to the effect of the Act of Adiation by J. S. Barnard, on behalf of himself and his three brothers and, therefore, the Court have disposed of the questions and matters without reference to that Act of Adiation.

As regard the costs, in England it is usual to allow costs out of the estate to the trustee applying to the Court; but, even there, if a trustee is unreasonable from over caution and thereby incurs costs, those costs will not be allowed him (Re Chapman, 72 L. T. 66.) In England, however, the trustee is not by law entitled to any remuneration and any bargains for remuneration for services of a trustee are watched by the Court with exceeding jealousy. In this Colony the executor is entitled by law to a very large remuneration. Executors so remunerated should, in our opinion, make all necessary enquiries and take some responsibility and not except for very good cause come to the Court on questions arising in the Administration of the estate. It would not be equitable that an executor should receive remuneration from the estate and that the estate should also be made to pay the costs of such executor coming to the Court for direction and advice, save perhaps under exceptional circumstances. We think that in this case no such circumstances exist, and that the petitioner should not be allowed costs out of the estate.

Post Office Notices.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF DELIVERY OF PARCELS.

GENERAL POST OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,
17th April, 1903.

NOTICE is hereby given, for general information, that reciprocal arrangements have been made with the Imperial Post Office, whereby the Sender of an Insured Parcel to the United Kingdom may obtain an Acknowledgment of its delivery by pre-paying, with the postage, a fee of five cents, as well as the Insurance fee.

The Sender may also obtain such Acknowledgment if he applies after posting and pays such fee.

Every enquiry as to the alleged loss or non-delivery of an Insured Parcel should be accompanied by a fee of five cents, unless the sender has already paid the fee for an Acknowledgment of its delivery. The fee will be refunded if it is found that the Postal Service is at fault.

F. W. COLLIER,
Postmaster General.

TELEPHONE SERVICE.

GENERAL POST OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,

21st April, 1903.

THE Postmaster General begs leave to notify Renters that in view of the early dismantling of the old Georgetown Exchange, it will be necessary to at once suspend certain services, and the Renter concerned will in each case be notified by his telephone through the Exchange.

The entire service will be suspended at the end of the present month.

The charge for the new Service will be made as from 1st July next, and the attention of Renters is called to the following Regulations, which will govern the payment of such rents :—

Sec. 7. All charges shall be payable at the General Post Office in advance and the rent quarterly in advance. If the rent be not paid within 10 days after it has become due the service may be discontinued without prejudice to the right of the Postmaster General to recover the rental for the remainder of the term stipulated in the agreement. Provided that in the event of a connection being required from a date other than the first day of a quarter the first payment shall include the rent for the broken period in addition to the first quarter's rent. The quarter days shall be the 1st of January, 1st of April, 1st of July and 1st of October, in each year.

All persons who desire to have a telephone Service on the new Exchange and who have not yet given notice of the same, are hereby notified that the new List of Renters will now be closed and their application should be sent in at once.

F. W. COLLIER,
Postmaster General.

THE following Order of the Governor-in-Council, made on the 20th April, 1903, is hereby published for general information:—

ORDER.

WHEREAS it is desirable that the area of land mentioned in Section 3 of "The Town of Morawhanna Regulation Ordinance 1892. Repeal Ordinance, 1903" should be declared a Country Sanitary District under the provisions of Section 10 of the Public Health Ordinance, 1878, as amended by the Public Health Ordinance, 1878, Amendment Ordinance 1902:

It is hereby ordered by the Governor-in-Council that the area of land aforesaid, bounded on the North by ungranted Crown Lands, on the South by a tract of Crown land granted to the Roman Catholic Bishop, on the West by the Barima River, and on the East by the Trench on the Eastern edge of Second Street, as shown on a plan of the Town of Morawhanna by W. A. Harrison, dated 8th December, 1892, recorded in the office of the Commissioner of Lands and Mines, shall and the same is hereby declared to be a Country Sanitary District under the provisions of the Public Health Ordinance, 1878, as amended by the Public Health Ordinance, 1878, Amendment Ordinance, 1902.

By Command,

J. HAMPDEN KING,
Clerk of the Council.

1st May, 1903.

In pursuance of Section 26 of the "New Amsterdam Town Council Ordinance, 1891," the Report of the Mayor and Town Council of New Amsterdam for the year 1902, and the Estimate of Ways and Means for the current year, which have been laid before the Governor-in-Council, are hereby published for general information.

By Command,

J. HAMPDEN KING,
Clerk of the Council.

To His Excellency SIR JAMES ALEXANDER SWETTENHAM, K.C.M.G., Governor and Commander-in-Chief, in and over the Colony of British Guiana, Vice-Admiral of the same, &c., &c., and the Honourable the Executive Council of British Guiana.

The Report of the Mayor and Town Council of New Amsterdam respectfully sheweth:—

That your Reporters, in accordance with the provisions of the New Amsterdam Town Council Ordinance, have now the honour to transmit for the information of Your Excellency and Honourable Council the Statement of Administration for the year 1902 and the Statement of Estimated Expenditure for the current year amounting to sixty-five thousand two hundred and thirty-six dollars and eighty-one cents ($65,236 81), in which provision has been made for the requirements of the town, for the maintenance of sanitation, water supply and lighting, for the repayment of the loans received from Government and the interest thereon, and for the loans obtained for the installation of electric light in this town together with the interest on these loans.

The Ways and Means to meet the said Estimate of $65,236 81 your Reporters propose to raise in the manner indicated in the Statement also now transmitted to Your Excellency and Honourable Council.

Your Reporters would further respectfully renew their application for permission to raise on loan, by the issue of bonds, and in terms of Section 14 of the New Amsterdam Town Council Ordinance, 1891, Amendment and Loan Ordinance, 1899, the sum of $17,800, appearing in the Statement of Ways and Means, for the purpose of duplicating certain parts of the machinery of the Electric Lighting plant, and for liquidating the temporary loans obtained from the Colonial Bank for the completion of the said Electric Lighting plant, lines, etc.

All which is respectfully submitted.

GUIANA.

GENERAL CIVIL JURISDICTION.

THIS 1ST DAY OF MAY, 1903.

DEVONISH, et al, Plaintiffs,*versus*Executrix G. W. ROCKCLIFFE, Deceased, Defendant.

This is an application by the plaintiffs for an order directing the defendant as executrix of G. W. Rockcliffe, deceased, to pay to them the sum of $1,783 85, being the sum which the Judge, to whom the matter was by order of the 5th of January, 1903, referred, found by his judgment of the 28th of March, 1903, to be due and payable, and also to pay the costs of the action other than the costs of the investigation and hearing before the single Judge.

The defendant opposes the making of the order on the ground that Hewick, J., included in the sum of $1,783 85 £900 the value of lot 57 or 67, Stabroek, and also $1,138 received in respect of ten matured shares in the British Guiana Building Society, which two last mentioned sums it is urged should not have been included as the late Frances Rockcliffe was indebted to the late G. W. Rockcliffe for the purchase money of the said lot and shares.

By their statement of claim the plaintiffs averred that Frances Rockcliffe was the owner of ten shares in the British Guiana Building Society, her ownership thereof is also alleged by the statement of Defence (para 9), and the Court by its judgment of the 24th of June, 1902, held that such ownership was established.

We doubt whether after that finding a claim to the value of those shares could be raised on any ground but assuming that it could, there is not, we think, any evidence which would justify a finding that the sums necessary for the purchase and upkeep of those shares were advanced to Frances Rockcliffe by G. W. Rockcliffe, as a loan, on the contrary the entry made by G. W. Rockcliffe, in one of his books which is mentioned in the judgment of Hewick, J., is strong evidence, that if paid out of G. W. Rockcliffe's own moneys, the sums so paid were regarded by him as gifts to Frances Rockcliffe, which gifts remained unrevoked up to the time of his death. The moneys received in respect of those shares cannot, therefore, we think, be deducted. Nor, in our opinion, even if the question could be raised before the single Judge, after the decision of the Full Court as to the defendant's liability to account for the value of lot 57 or 67, Stabroek, is there sufficient evidence to support the contention that the purchase money of that lot should be deducted. It is clearly proved that that lot was the property of Frances Rockcliffe, and on the occasion of the passing of the transport thereof to her, G. W. Rockcliffe, made an affidavit that the purchase money was her own proper moneys: the mere statement in G. W. Rockcliffe's handwriting in his diary and on an undated memorandum that such money was lent her by him is not evidence of a liability on her part created in his favour: in the declaration made for the payment of duty on her estate which declaration was prepared by G. W. Rockcliffe, no mention is made of any such debt, and as appears from the evidence given at the hearing before the Full Court, G. W. Rockcliffe after obtaining the lot which now stands in the defendant's name, promised the plaintiffs "to settle with them for its value." Under these circumstances, it is, in our opinion, impossible to hold that its value must be deducted from the sum found by Hewick, J., to be payable to the plaintiffs.

The Court therefore gives judgment in favour of the plaintiffs for the sum of $1,783 85.

The question of costs remains. The language of sub-section (1) of section 56, of the Supreme Court Ordinance, 1893, is similar to that of sub-section (2) of the same section and the principle laid down in Gomes v. Yong, (Full Court 17th of March, 1903), as to the construction of the latter sub-section must therefore be applied in that of the former. The action could in this case have been brought in the Limited Jurisdiction of the Court, and as from the facts stated in the statement of claim it appears that there was no ground for anticipating that the estate of Frances Rockcliffe would, on the accounts being taken, be found to have exceeded $5,000, which is the limit of that jurisdiction in cases like the present, we see no reason why the Court should certify for costs. No costs therefore can be allowed.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C. J.
A. V. LUCIE SMITH, J.
JOHN E. HEWICK, J.

WOOLFORD, Plaintiff,

versus

ALT, Defendant.

This is an action for the recovery of damages for certain words defamatory of the plaintiff alleged to have been spoken by the defendant. No special damage has been averred by the plaintiff in his statement of claim, and his case is based on the alleged utterance by the defendant to others on the 13th February, 1902, in November, 1902, and in January, 1903, of words imputing to the plaintiff the keeping of a common gambling house, which was, on those dates, an offence punishable on summary conviction by fine or imprisonment. Unless words were spoken by the defendant imputing this criminal offence, however defamatory any other of the alleged statements orally made by the defendant may have been, the action must fail, no special damage being alleged to have resulted therefrom, and those statements not being of such a nature as to sustain an action without proof of special damage. There is, we think, no doubt that the defendant on more than one occasion spoke of the plaintiff as a gambler and angrily inveighed against the gambling which went on in his room, but after careful consideration of all the evidence we think it is not satisfactorily established that he spoke words which either expressly or according to the common meaning, apart from any innuendo, imputed to the plaintiff the keeping of a common gaming house.

The action is therefore dismissed with costs.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF DELIVERY OF PARCELS.

GENERAL POST OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara.
17th April, 1903.

NOTICE is hereby given, for general information, that reciprocal arrangements have been made with the Imperial Post Office, whereby the Sender of an Insured Parcel to the United Kingdom may obtain an Acknowledgment of its delivery by pre-paying, with the postage, a fee of five cents, as well as the Insurance fee.

The Sender may also obtain such Acknowledgment if he applies after posting and pays such fee.

Every enquiry as to the alleged loss or non-delivery of an Insured Parcel should be accompanied by a fee of five cents, unless the sender has already paid the fee for an Acknowledgment of its delivery. The fee will be refunded if it is found that the Postal Service is at fault.

F. W. COLLIER,
Postmaster General.

TELEPHONE SERVICE.

GENERAL POST OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara.
21st April, 1903.

THE Postmaster General begs leave to notify Renters that in view of the early dismantling of the old Georgetown Exchange, it will be necessary to at once suspend certain services, and the Renter concerned will in each case be notified by his telephone through the Exchange.

The entire service will be suspended at the end of the present month.

A charge for the new Service will be made as from 1st July next, and the attention of Renters is called to the following Regulations, which will govern the payment of such rents:—

Sec. 7. All charges shall be payable at the General Post Office in advance and the rent quarterly in advance. If the rent be not paid within 10 days after it has become due the service may be discontinued without prejudice to the right of the Postmaster General to recover the rental for the remainder of the term stipulated in the agreement. Provided that in the event of a connection being required from a date other than the first day of a quarter the first payment shall include the rent for the broken period in addition to the first quarter's rent. The quarter days shall be the 1st of January, 1st of April, 1st of July and 1st of October, in each year.

All persons who desire to have a telephone Service on the new Exchange and who have not yet given notice of the same, are hereby notified that the new list of Renters will now be closed and their application should be sent in at once.

F. W. COLLIER,
Postmaster General.
